SOLONS REJECT CITY BILL FOR AUTO TAXATION

Polakowski to Push Bill in Ef- Request of Cities and Counties Recommended for Indefinite Postponement

FAVORABLE REPORT RETURNED ON TWO COMMITTEE MEASURES

Polakowski t oPush Bill in Effort to Override Committee Recommendations

MADISON, Wis.—The Polakowski general highway tax bill, introduced at request of the league of Wisconsin municipalities and the county boards' association, was recommended for indefinite postponement Thursday by the joint highway committee of the legislature. Two committee bills, providing for a graduated license fee based upon weight and a gasoline tax, were recommended for passage, members of the committee said.

Wisconsin cities and county boards were backing the Polakowski bill which provides for a graduated weight tax ranging from $8 to $24, a two cent gasoline tax, and a highway privilege tax of two per cent of the valuation of automobiles to be assessed in lieu of the present personal property tax. This measure would raise $10,000,000 to be distributed to cities, counties and the state.

The committee bills, which together would produce approximately $11,000,000, would give eight million of that amount to the state to be applied on a ten thousand mile trunk highway system, with the remainder to be distributed back to the counties on the basis of mileage of rural roads.

Senator Polakowski said that his measure would be pushed in the legislature in an effort to over-ride the committee recommendations for killing.

Cities Back Polakowski Bill

Cities rallied to the support of the Polakowski bill before the joint highway committee Wednesday afternoon and the two highway committee automobile taxation bills found practically no friends outside of the committee itself.

Mayor Daniel Hoan of Milwaukee, was one of the leaders in the fight for the Polakowski measure as against the other two. He declared that if legislation unfavorable to communities is enacted a reaction will take place that will retard Wisconsin's highway development for several years.

Will Reach Untaxed Cars

Ford McGregor, representing the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, declared that the Polakowski bill would prevent the present escape of many automobiles from taxation. He asserted that with the present system of having cars taxed as personal property there was an avenue of escape and also that some escaped through the personal property offset.

The delegation urging the passage of the Polakowski bill as against the other two measures included Mayor A. A. Bentley, La Crosse, L. E. Larvey, Fond du Lac, Oscar Nelson, Janesville, and Fred M. Wylie, Madison, representing the city of Superior.

WEATHER REPORT

For La Crosse and vicinity—Generally fair tonight and Friday. Not much change in temperature.

For Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Friday. Somewhat warmer tonight in extreme south portion. Cooler Friday in [illegible] portion.

For Minnesota—Probably fair tonight and Friday. Colder tonight in [illegible] portion. Warmer Friday in northwest portion.

For Iowa—Probably fair tonight and Friday, except unsettled in southeast portion. Warmer tonight in southeast portion.

Scientists Claim Confirmation of Einstein's Theory of Relativity

SAN JOSE, Calif.—By The Associated Press.—The world today is in possession of a new principle in physics which modifies the law of gravitation as announced by Sir Isaac Newton in 1687, if the confirmation of the Einstein theory of relativity announced at Lick observatory near here Wednesday night by Dr. W. W. Campbell, noted astronomer, is not upset by some future discovery.

Dr. Campbell, director of the observatory and president-elect of the University of California, announced he had confirmed the theory as a result or calculations based on photographs of the sun taken by him and a corps of assistants during a total eclipse at Wallal, on the northwest coast of Australia, September 21, last.

Photograph Eclipse

The undertaking was known as the W. H. Crocker eclipse expedition of Lick observatory and the University of California.

For the first time in twenty-five years on the date of observation, the day was clear. Twelve photographic plates brought back to the observatory turned out to be satisfactory and afforded excellent bases of measurement, Dr. Campbell said.

Among the photographs were some taken of stars apparently right at the sun's rim at the time of total eclipse. These stars were known by other than photographic methods of measurement to be farther from the rim that they appeared to be. The result is that the prediction of Professor Albert Einstein that under ideal conditions it will be discovered the sun deflected the rays of stars passing near it by one and seventy-five hundredths seconds of arc has been borne out, apparently.

More Complex than Believed

Professor Einstein's theory, according to Dr. Campbell and other western scientists, is, however, much more complex than a mere hypothesis that light is bent in passing large celestial bodies. The theory in its larger proportions involves a radical change in attitude toward the nature of the universe—at least by scientists. One of the elements of the theory is that light is a substance and because of that is attracted by gravity.

Some of the interpreters of the theory also maintain that by virtue of the same quality that makes it subject to the pull of gravity, it has a repelling power because of its weight.

There is also involved in the theory the assumption that the pull of gravity on any substance varies with the velocity of that substance in motion.

Light being presumably the most tenuous form of visible matter, is less subject to the force of gravity than more tangible substances.

Where it Gets its Name

The Einstein theory of relativity in discussions among coast astronomers gets its name, it is explained, from the fact that it deals with time and space as relative things—distance having meaning only in the relation of objects to each other in space. The same, it is alleged, is true of time, it being measured by the relation of events and subject to motion for its existence as a method of measurement.

As far as the man in the street is concerned, Dr. Campbell does not expect his confirmation of the Einstein theory to make any appreciable difference. It will not affect baseball, taxes or prohibition. But in astronomy and in physics its importance is expected eventually to be more noticeable. Its influence on daily life at any rate is not expected to be as great as the Newtonian theory that mass attracts mass in direct ratio to its matter content.

Light Has Maximum Velocity

One of the more obstruse lements of the Einstein theory in connection with velocity is that the maximum velocity which anything can attain is 186,000 miles a second, the velocity of light. Above that, according to the theory, energy becomes inert.

Observation of the eclipse at Wallal required seventy tons of equipment, most of which had to be transported from California. The finest instruments procurable were employed.

The astronomers arrived at Wallal, twenty four days in advance of the eclipse to be fully prepared for it. Australian government astronomers aided the party to make the observation a success. The result was so satisfactory that the experiments will not be repeated during the total eclipse of the sun visible in Southern California next September.

Can't Prove It?

Not all the astronomers in the west agree with Dr. Campbell. Professor T. J. See, government astronomer at Mare Island, said he did not believe the Einstein theory capable of proof.

Professor V. M. Slipper, head of the Lowell observatory at Flagstaff, Arizona, however, said he had confidence in Dr. Campbell's confirmation.

FRIENDS OF DRY LAWS MUST ACT, SPEAKERS ASSERT

"Flying Squadron" Conducts Meetings Wednesday at the Congregational Church

DECLARE "WETS" ORGANIZED TO WORK FOR RETURN OF LIQUOR

Three Days of Meetings Come to Close Thursday Night

FRIENDS of prohibition were urged to line up for the political struggle that was taking place now and would continue until 1924, at least, and to fight for the control of congress that the country may be kept dry, by James H. Woertendyke, Chicago lawyer and "Flying Squadron" speaker at the Congregational church Wednesday evening.

The series of talks on prohibition and the prohibition movement that have been going on at the Congregational church since Tuesday afternoon will close with addresses this afternoon and evening.

Prohibition is in grave danger unless the "drys" wake up and counteract the active campaign being conducted by the "wets," declared Woertendyke.

Sees Entering Wedge

The appeal to restore beer and light wines is only an entering wedge to bring back the whole traffic, he said, citing the situation at the time of the civil war as similar to the present one. Before 1861, he said, 14 states were dry. They were persuaded to restore beer and wine during the war and in a short time every one of them was completely "wet" again.

It is not necessary to repeal the 18th amendment to bring back liquor, he warned, repeal of the Volstead act which makes it effective, by a majority in congress being sufficient. Beer and wine and the open saloon can be restored, he said, by changing only four words in the Volstead act—"one half of one per cent" to "two and three-fourths per cent."

"Even though the dry laws remain in force," Mr. Woertendyke asserted, "they never will be well enforced until the vast majority of drys who are peacefully asleep wake up and give active support to the officers of the law. Only about 15 per cent of the officers are at present doing their duty. Every one, even if "dry" in sympathy, who is inactive in support of prohibition, is against it. You cannot be neutral on a moral question."

Says Wets Are Active

There are 33 national wet organizations affiliated as the National Association Opposed to Prohibition, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., with a campaign well organized in 23 states to elect a wet congress in 1924 and an organization well started in all but 11 states, including Wisconsin, Mr. Woertendyke declared.

Afternoon Meeting

The principal address of the afternoon meeting of the "Flying Squadren" was given by Rev. Fred W. Corbett of Lansing, Mich., who spoke on "The Crisis." In treating his subject, Rev. Corbett said, in effect: "The forces allied against the prohibition laws claim that the laws are failures because they aren't being enforced. We admit that the law is repeatedly broken, no human institution is absolutely perfect, and the Volstead act is not a perfect act. However, it is the most nearly perfect that we have in effect and in enforcement."

The speaker here stated that the weak point in the Volstead act was that it prohibited "intoxicating" liquors, without specifying what alcoholic content is intoxicating, leaving that phase to the discretion of congress. The last congress fixed the content at one-half of one per cent, but the next may have an altogether different idea on the subject, he said. Rev. Corbett stated that an effort is being made to have the law read "alcoholic" instead of "intoxicating."

Law Not a Failure

"No matter how many times a law is violated," said the speaker, "it is no indication that it is a failure." Here he drew the comparison of the 10 Commandments, first laws of man, which have been violated throughout

BEDLAM REIGNS IN PARLIAMENT OVER BONAR LAW DEFEAT

Row Follows Victory of Opposition on Technical Point of Order

GOVERNMENT INVOKES CLOSURE MOTION AND HOUSE ADJOURNS

Cabinet Officials Accused of Incapacity by Liberal Press

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.— The government Thursday bowed to the will of the opposition in the house of commons on the question of the treatment of war veterans, which brought about its defeat on a snap division Tuesday.

The chancellor of the exchequer announced that a committee would be appointed to investigate the grievances of ex-service men in regard to the salaries they are receiving in the civil service.

The proceedings opened in a tense atmosphere but there were no indications in the early stages of the sitting that there was to be a repetition of last night's disorders.

LONDON.—By The Associated Press. —Perhaps never since the days of Parnellite obstruction has such a scene of violent uproar been witnessed in the house of commons as that which Wednesday transformed the ordinarily placid and dignified chamber into absolute bedlam.

The disorders arose primarily out of the government's defeat by a small majority on a mere technical point Tuesday night. Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, Wednesday introduced a motion framed to counteract this defeat only to meet with a storm unexampled in present day parliamentary annals, in the face of which the speaker, powerless to obtain a division, declared the motion carried under closure and house adjourned until Thursday.

The laborites clearly felt that they had a big stick to wield against the government in the interests of ex-service men, which was the question originally before the house. In this attitude the labor members are likely to receive the support of the whole laborite electorate.

Hurl Epithets at Government

All sorts of epithets and threatening gestures against the treasury bench came from the laborites, especially from the small extreme group, including the Scottish members, led by John Joseph Jones and George Lansbury. The laborites shouted "The Red Flag."

The house, in striking contrast with Tuesday's scene, was crowded. Excitement was at fever heat and the speaker from time to time vainly appealed to the better feelings of the members, but was unable to stem the disorders. Jones vehemently expounded the grievance of the former service men and was repeatedly called to order by the speaker, who declared that the question could not be debated until Thursday.

All the speaker's efforts to pacify the recalcitrants appeared only to inflame them still further. The speaker protested that it would be "a very bad thing" if the members should force an adjournment on account of grave disorder, and begged them to refrain, all to no purpose. "We demand an answer," was shouted on every hand by the angry laborites.

Chancellor Baldwin's motion was that the house resolve itself into a committee of supply, so that the difficulty in which the government had found itself could be adjusted, but the opposition declined to take part in a division when closure was moved, leading finally to the speaker declaring the closure motion and the chancellor's motion carried.

Strikes Fellow Member

As the members left a Scottish Laber member angrily addressed Mr. Ormesby-Gore, conservative, and struck him with an order paper. Mr. Ormesby-Gore grappled with the Scotsman, and other members were obliged to separate them.

The government, constrained to bow before the storm, had to abandon the important agricultural debate set down for the day and also the expected statement from the minister of agriculture concerning the government policy on the recent recommendations of the agricultural tribunal.

Mr. Lloyd George had only just previously asked the government to grant

GOVERNOR BLAINE IN ATTACK UPON CAPITAL TIMES

Hits Progressive Newspaper for "Mis-statement of Facts on Prohibition Attitude"

MADISON, Wis.—Governor Blaine in a letter to the editor of the Dodgeville Sun-Republic, a weekly publication, attacks the Madison Capital Times and papers generally, declaring that "the public today is skeptical about newspapers."

Referring to an editorial carried by the Madison paper attacking his position on the prohibition issue, the governor said that "as soon as the people begin to appreciate that this attack has been almost 100 per cent false in its statement of facts of my position, it will lose confidence of the people, and cannot longer be regarded as the mouth-piece of the progressive movement."

The governor said that his position on the prohibition issue was summed up in his message to the legislature in which he attacked the search and seizure section of the Severson enforcement law and the eighteenth amendment.

THIS CAVEMAN DECAPITATES WIFE WHO DISOBEYED HIM

THIBODEAUX, La.—Victor Taber, 32, has confessed, according to Sheriff Stark, that he chopped off his wife's head, with an ax because she disobeyed his order not to leave home without his consent.

"I had a perfect right to do it," the sheriff quoted Tabor as stating. "I'd told her not to leave the house unless I had given her permission."

BEER PROPOSAL STRIKES SNAG IN THE SENATE

Upper House Refuses to Concur in Assembly Resolution to Petition Congress for Less Rigid Enforcement

DRYS IN THE SENATE ELATED OVER THE VICTORY OF TODAY

Claim Strength Enough to Defeat Efforts to Restrict State Enforcement Act

MADISON, Wis.—The drys scored a victory in the Wisconsin senate Thursday when the upper house, by a vote of 16 to 15, refused to concur in the Peterson resolution adopted by the assembly memorializing congress to amend the Volstead act to permit manufacture of beverages with an alcoholic content of more than one-half of one per cent.

This stand of the senate is directly opposite from that of the assembly which has consistently passed wet measures throughout the session. Drys claim that it indicates for the first time that those favoring strict prohibition enforcement will be able to prevent passage of any measure that will curtail application of the state liquor law.

There was no discussion preceding the vote. A motion by Senator Huber to lay over consideration for one week lost, 18 to 14. The resolution was then taken up and killed.

The resolution stated that the Volstead act "arbitrarily and without basis of fact, defines intoxicating liquor containing alcohol to the amount of one-half of one per cent," and asked that congress amend this law to permit manufacture of beverages with "an alcoholic contect compatible with the intent and meaning of the eighteenth amendment of the constitution."

Those opposing the present prohibition enforcement act backed this resolution as one of their principal moves in the session. It was opposed in committee by the anti-saloon league.

Roll-call on the measure follows:

For concurrence—Barber, Benfey, Bilgrien, Burke, Cashman, Czerwinski, Gettelman, Hirsch, Moran, Morris, Polakowski, Quick, Schumann, Titus, White.—15.

Against concurrence— Casperson, Clark, Garey, Heck, Huber, Johnson, Kemp, Kuckuk, Lange, Ridgway, Roethe, Severson, Smith, Staudenmayer, Teasdale, Werden.—16.

Paired—Senator Mahon for the resolution, Senator Skogmo, against.

HOUSTON MAN IS FINED IN POLICE COURT THURSDAY

After being ushered out of the place twice, Tolf Tollefson, Houston, returned to the Kleinertz restaurant, 213 Pearl street, for the third time Wednesday night and started trouble which finally netted him a fine of $12.50 in police court Thursday morning on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

Tollefson, it is reported by the police, persisted in stirring up trouble around the restaurant and finally threatened to use a knife on the counter man, who was interrupted by the police from throwing him out bodily. Tollefson lives at Houston, but has been visiting in La Crosse for a few days.

MARY M'SWINEY IS ARRESTED ON WAY TO LYNCH FUNERAL

BELFAST. — By The Associated Press.—It is stated on good authority here that Miss Mary MacSwiney, on her way to the funeral of Liam Lynch at Clougmel, was arrested by Free State troops, being taken from a train after a struggle.

It also stated that Count Plunkett, Mrs. O'Callaghan, widow of the late Lord mayor of Limerick, and the brother of Liam Lynch who is a member of the Christian Brothers' order were arrested at the same time and place, but that Lynch later was released.

HAVE BIRTHDAYS ON FRIDAY THE 13TH OF MONTH

At least three residents of La Crosse will celebrate their birthdays on Friday the 13th.

William Doerflinger was born on Friday the 13th of April, 1857. In celebration of the recurrence of his birthday on Friday the 13th Mr. Doerflinger will put on a Lucky Friday Sale at his store tomorrow.

Joseph J. Frisch, tax commissioner will tomorrow celebrate his fiftieth birthday. Mr. Frisch was born on Easter Sunday, April 13, 1873.

Miss Valeria Wiskerchen, a high school girl residing on French Island, will be seventeen years old tomorrow.

U. S. PARTICIPATION IN WORLD COURT ESSENTIAL TO PEACE SAYS HOOVER

Commerce Secretary Defends Harding Plea for Membership in Permanent Court of Justice in Address at Meeting of Women Voters; Says World Can't Stand Another War

DES MOINES, Ia.—By the Associated Press.—A resolution asking the National League of Women Voters to support President Harding's proposed participation by the United States in the permanent Court of International Justice, was introduced by Miss Ruth Morgan, chairman of the international affairs department, Thursday morning.

DES MOINES, Ia.—Answering the attacks of those who oppose President Harding's proposal that the United States enter the permanent world court, organized by the league of nations, Secretary Hoover, addressing the National League of Women Voters Wednesday night, opened the public debate in which most of the prominent men of the country are expected to participate.

To go into the court, Mr. Hoover said, would not be "entering the league in any sense," but would be an "essential step" in the direction of world peace.

He argued that American membership in the court would aid in placing international relationship on a basis of law rather than politics, and would at the same time continue the American policy of conciliation and good will exemplified in the arms conference and in recent relations in Latin-America.

In spite of his advocacy of Mr. Harding's ideas on the world court, Mr. Hoover said his address was not for the purpose of starting any "boom" for United States entry into the court.

"Had I known," said Mr. Hoover in an interview before his address, "that any political importance was to be attached to my speaking to the League of Women Voters, I should not have come within a thousand miles of the place. This speech is most certainly not an opening gun in a fight for the world court, but mere support of what President Harding strongly recommended in his last message."

Cites Objection to the League

Citing the various objections advanced against the league, involving the employment of force or military alliances to insure peace, or commitments and agreements thought by some to limit national independence, Mr. Hoover asserted that "whatever the rights or wrongs of these methods or principles, the proposition that we join the court involves none of them, for the court relies upon the upbuilding of the processes of justice between nations, and upon public opinion for their enforcement.

"By it," he said, "we enter into no obligations to use arms or take no commitments that limits our freedom of action. Its purpose lies solely in facilitating the elimination of many of the causes of war before they rise to the threat of war."

"Arms Conference a Court Test"

Secretary Hoover pointed to the accomplishment of the Washington arms conference as a "practical realization" of what could be accomplished "within the confines" of the principle which he asserted animated the world court. The arms conference, he declared, had "eliminated the menace in the Pacific," not only to the United Staets, but among other nations touching upon the Pacific.

"Then the conference held with the co-operation of our government between the five Central American states eliminated a multitude of frictions to such an extent that the peoples of these states have returned to a cordiality and a helpfulness in their mutual relationships which assures long peace," Mr. Hoover said. "The causes of war have been eliminated from among them."

Answers Court's Critics

With the statement that the world court represented "the minimum possible step in eliminating the causes of war," Mr. Hoover then proceeded to detail what he, and presumably President Harding, expects the world court to accomplish. Mr. Hoover said:

"The proposals to join the court have been criticized from various angles. The first of these is that it leads us into some undescribed political entanglement. This is untrue, for the decrees of the international court are based upon the process of law, not upon political agreement; their enforcement rests wholly on public opinion and not upon force.

"In supporting this court we subscribe to no compulsion whatever. Compulsion is, in fact, specifically excluded. We do not need to submit any case to the court unless we feel like doing so at the time the case arises.

Involves No Compulsion

"No other natina can summon us into court except with our consent. The court itself cannot summon us in, nor in any manner or degree exert upon us any kind of compulsion, not even moral. Our proposal to enter the court and the act of adhesion to it which President Harding has asked is based upon the assumption that compulsion is not necessary for peoples of good will and a sense of justice."

"It is true that part of the other nations, in joining this court, have joined it in a slightly stronger degree. These other nations have been moved either because they have greater faith in the processes of international co-operation than America is able to show in its present mood of distrust, or else because harsh suffering has made them more fearful to the menace of war.

Harding Makes Stipulations

"But the adhesion which President Harding proposes to the international court is strictly limited by carefully drawn stipulations which will no doubt

HIGH OFFICIALS OF STANDARD OIL COMPANY COMING

La Crosse Only City in Wisconsin to be Visited by Board of Directors

COLONEL STEWART TO TALK AT LUNCHEON SATURDAY NOON

Big Meeting Planned at the Chamber of Commerce

The board of directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana headed by Colonel Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board, will be in La Crosse on Saturday, April 14, to meet with employes of this division, inspect the properties of the company here and decide on plant extensions and improvements contemplated here. La Crosse is the only Wisconsin city to be visited by the directors who are on their annual tour of inspection.

This trip is being made for the purpose of the management getting better acquainted with the employes as well as for an inspection of the properties in La Crosse. At the meeting there will be a discussion by members of the board, managers, salesmen and others, regarding the company's affairs in this territory.

Those Making Trip

The names of those who will make this trip are as follows:

Colonel Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board; W. M. Burton, president; E. G. Seubert, vice president, secretary-treasurer; Allan Jackson, vice president; John D. Clark, vice president; R. H. McElroy, traffic manager; E. J. Bullock, director of purchases; T. J. Thompson, general manager of sales; George M. Cook, director of public relations, and N. R. Grimshaw, assistant general manager, Northern division.

Colonel Stewart will also speak at 12:15 Saturday at a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce to which all members of that organization are invited. An invitation to Mr. Stewart to talk here, which was extended by Secretary R. W. Holcombe, was accepted by telegraph.

SOLICITORS STILL TURNING IN THEIR SCOUT FUND LISTS

Returns Being Completed Slowly; General Committee Asks More Speed in Finishing

Solicitors are still turning in their reports of contributions made during the one day financial drive for the Boy Scouts of La Crosse. A number of solicitors turned in complete lists Wednesday night at the Batavian National bank, which was kept open from 6 to 9 p. m. to receive the reports and money. On Thursday there were returns made to all the banks. The general committee of the campaign urges that all solicitors turn in their lists as soon as possible so that the work may be completed and the committee know how much was netted in the drive.

ROOF FIRE CAUSES $100 DAMAGE TO NORTH SIDE HOME

Approximately $100 damage was involved in a roof fire at the residence of Albert M. Munson, 1426 Gillette street, shortly after 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, fire officials reported Thursday.

The blaze was started by a spark from the chimney, firemen said, and had gained considerable headway before the fire equipment arrived.

BILL PROVIDES FOR SIMPLER SYSTEM OF LAND REGISTRATION

Courts of Land Registration to be Established Under the Caldwell Measure

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—The Torrens system of land registration to provide "for a certain, cheaper and more speedy settlement of registration, transfer and assurance of titles to land," is provided for in a bill introduced into the assembly Thursday by Assemblyman Robert Caldwell, Lodi. This subject has been considered by interim committees of the legislature but has never been acted upon.

The state, instead of local title abstractors, would be responsible for land registration, under provisions of the bill, application of which would be optional with counties, should it be enacted into law.

Courts of land registration are designated by the bill which in addition, provides for appointment and duties of registration of title, regulates proceedings to obtain registration of title, authorizes the adjudication of title, prescribes the nature of certificates of title, provides for subsequent dealings with registered titles, establishes an assurance fund, and regulates fees for registration of titles.

In drafting his bill, Assemblyman Caldwell has modeled it after the uniform land registration act drawn by the national conference of commissioners on uniform state laws. This measure in practically the form urged by Mr. Caldwell is in effect in Illinois, California, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Oregon, Colorado, Washington, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Mississippi, Nebraska, Virginia and South Carolina, he says.

It is the contention of those favoring the Torrens system of land registration that it simplifies real estate transactions, and gives a much less tardy means of assuring title to property.

NEW BRICKYARD TO HAVE CAPACITY OF 25 MILLION A YEAR

MILWAUKEE, Wis.— Wisconsin's largest brickyard which will have an annual output of 25,000,000 building bricks, will be opened May 1 at Carrollville, eight miles from here.

The yard will cover 46 acres which it is estimated will provide enough clay to operate the yards for the next fifty years. The yards have been equipped with 20 dry heated tunnels in which bricks will be baked to hardness in 24 hours instead of the 10 to 12 days required by the old sun drying process. Buildings to house machine shops and a power plant have been erected. One building 800 feet long and 60 feet wide which is known as the crane burning shed houses the machinery to finish the bricks as they come from the large mill building where they are moulded.

MARSHLAND YOUTH FOUND NOT GUILTY BY JURY AT ALMA

ALMA, Wis.—Frank Duresky a youth of Marshland, was found not guilty of a statutory charge by a jury in circuit court here on Wednesday. The case was tried before Judge Thompson of Hudson. District Attorney G. L. Broadfoot prosecuted the case. Duresky was defended by R. S. Cowie and F. E. Withrow of La Crosse. The girl in the case is Irene Lavinsky, also of Marshland. The jury was out three hours.

DIES AT GOLF

CAMDEN, S. C.—John Gilmore Rogers of Chicago, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, died suddenly while playing golf.

ANSON DEJEAN, OLD SETTLER MERCHANT • AT LA FARGE, DIES

Well Known Resident Succumbs After Illness of Several Weeks

VIROQUA, Wis.—Anson W. De Jean, well known merchant, lumberman and farmer of La Farge, passed away at La Farge after a several weeks illness. His passing removes another of the first pioneers of Vernon County Anson De Jean was born in Maumee City, Ohio, February, 25, 1838.

While a young boy, he came with his parents to Vernon county settling in Stark town. When a young man he became associated in the milling business with his father, Thomas De Jean, operating a saw-mill and grist mill in the town of Stark. He was also engaged in teaching school for a time. In 1863, he engaged in mercantile business which he successfully conducted for nearly sixty years also continuing his milling business and the superintending of his farms.

At one time he owned 1,120 acres of land in Vernon county. He was married in 1862 to Juliet Potter, who passed away a few years ago. Mr. De Jean has filled county offices the greater part of his time since he attained the age of twenty-one years. He taught the first term of school held in District number four, known as "Jug Creek school." He was one of the first postmasters in the town of Stark. Mr. De Jean is survived by one son, Charles, who has been associated for years in the mercantile business with his father, a granddaughter, Mrs. Guy Butcher, and two great-grandchildren.

The spring session of circuit court for Vernon county is now in session, having convened Tuesday morning. Although the calendar is of usual length, it is expected to be disposed of in a short time. Following are the issues of note for jury:

Dorchester Savings Bank vs. Mary O'Regan and Maurice O'Regan—Money demand.

Louis Sundvey vs. Tillman Thompson—Damages.

J. W. Thayer vs. Torger Fortney—Money demand.

Maurice Pierce vs. Torger Fortney.

Thomas Wilson vs. Frank Campbell and John Curry.

Village of Hillsboro vs. Sidney Spear.

Elsie Schlicht vs. Stanley Sweger.

Choose Your Gasoline With Great Care

You can influence the depreciation of your car investment by using right or wrong gasoline.

You may point with pride to a speedometer that shows 30, 40 or 50 thousand miles or you may wear out a car every year.

You may have a smooth purring motor or a rattle-trap ready for the scrap heap. The influencing factor is the gasoline.

IN THE SPIRIT

WALK in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lusts of the flesh.—Galatians 5: 16.

Spring Shooting

WE do not believe that any one supposes the daily morning and evening bombardments in the bottoms around La Crosse are merely the prayerful exercise of target shooters. Ducks are coming north with the spring, and this locality is like any other in that it has a number of so-called sportsmen who are regardless of law not backed by enforcement. Spring shooting is forbidden by the migratory bird law, the best conservation measure ever passed in the United States, but that is a detail to market hunters to which only the arrest of a few of them will attach any significance or importance. It is earnestly to be hoped that the game wardens of Wisconsin and Minnesota will not delay much longer in impressing upon the spring shooters the meaning and force of the law.

Spring shooting in the bottoms hereabouts is not so much sport as slaughter. It is the breeding season, and the ducks are utterly careless compared to the caution they exhibit during the fall flight. Any tyro can go out and get a bagful—and in doing it can destroy a flock several times as large that would furnish splendid sport to scores of hunters in the coming season. For ducks killed now will never bring off their broods. In a country like that around La Crosse, the breeding ground for thousands of native birds, one season's spring shooting, unchecked, can almost destroy the early shooting for the legitimate open season a few months later. Law abiding citizens, real sportsmen, must in their own interest make this matter their business, and see that the daily shelling in our marshes is stopped.

The migratory bird law has revived a sport that was fast vanishing. By prohibiting spring shooting it has permitted a plainly visible increase in the ducks, and most hunters are again enjoying reasonable success in the open season. But if the law is allowed to fall into disuse, and the spring shooting is not stopped, it will not be long before the flocks are again as few and small as they were a few years ago. It is everybody's business, and particularly the business of the game wardens in this state and across the river.

This Merits Study

THE great state of Wisconsin is considering, through its legislature, the abolition of the State Board of Education. Economy is the reason suggested. The appropriation for the board is $25,000 a year.

Last year the people of the United States spent upwards of $2,000,000,000 for tobacco, $1,000,000,000 for movies, $2,000,000,000 for candy, $2,000,000,000 for perfumes and cosmetics. The total expenditure of the country for luxuries, including joy rides, soft drinks and the like, was upwards of $22,000,000,000.

That same year the people of the United States spent less than $1,500,000,000 for education.

Wonder if the legislature might not gather from these figures that education is a poor place to begin practicing economy.

But when the word is used in its best sense, economy does not mean reduced support of education. Economy may mean spending money wisely, watching the outgo, checking one department of education against another to make sure that the proportion of expense between them is just and practical.

Looking at it in that sense, the legislature may be interested in the fact that we are spending $50,385,856 a year for education in Wisconsin.

If we really believe in economy, is it not worth $25,000 a year to have one intelligent organization which is interested in education in the broad sense, rather than in the special sense of competing departments, to study what we are buying with our educational funds, to scan budgets of various educational institutions and departments, and by scientific processes to prepare information that will enable the legislature to know what expenditures are worth while and where savings can be made?

Whether we pay too much for a thing depends upon its real value. Every department in education is ambitious—it wants to forge ahead, as it should. The tendency is for each department to rapidly increase its budget, and to pay relatively little attention to what other branches of education are costing. The State Board of Education is interested in all alike, and in a well proportioned distribution of support to all. It seems to us that the only sound reason that can be raised for its abolition is that it is failing to do its work well. The legislature can not know about that, off hand. It can secure the facts only by a thorough investigation. It should take no action until it has possessed itself of full knowledge concerning the merits of the question.

A Bad Decision

THE decision of the supreme court of the United States declaring unconstitutional the minimum wage law adopted by the District of Columbia may have a far reaching influence. While as yet there has been no opportunity to examine the text of the decision, it almost stands to reason that the Wisconsin minimum wage law will be affected, if not indeed invalidated.

The problem that is raised is an important one, both for Attorney General Herman L. Ekern and for the state legislature. This state might proceed to the supreme court with a test case to make sure of the status of the Wisconsin law, but it is probable that when the full text is received the decision will be found sufficiently definite so that we may know the worst without going into court. Mr. Ekern will have to determine from the text whether it is possible for us, in case the Wisconsin law is invalidated, to go to the legislature with a revised law which, while meeting the requirement of the decision, would not emasculate the minimum wage idea in principle.

These things failing, we shall no doubt be put up against the task of proceeding for a new constitutional amendment such as that made necessary by the decision of the supreme court relating to child labor laws.

This brings up the whole matter of America's attitude toward its constitution. It is the supreme court, more than any other body, which is loaning sinews to those who demand a readier manner of amending the constitution, and thus playing into the hands of selfish interests who see in this change a chance to get rid of the eighteenth amendment.

No doubt Justice Taft is right in his dissenting opinion. When our highest court permits itself to be bound by precedent and tradition in the face of fundamental necessities arising from changing conditions in the life of the commonwealth, its surrender to technical law as against human welfare becomes a danger to the state. People generally have outgrown the old antagonism to paternalism where the well-being of society is affected by conditions subject only to legislative control. As long as the supreme court permits itself to remain in a straight-jacket of law and precedent it will be a stumbling block to progress. In these matters we must look to women at the polls.

Decision Reversed

By MARTHA McCULLOCH WILLIAMS

"The curse of a granted prayer" is almost the heaviest that can befall. So Avis Glyn reflected bitterly as she looked about the ruinous house to which fate by her connivance, had brought her. She had seen it in fancy a fairy palace for which it would be a joy to fight and die. By amazing chance she had won the fight,—only to find this tawdry, toppling edifice that seemed uninhabitable. Her father had run away from it at fifteen to escape the tyranny of a harsh stepmother. He had never gone back to it, but, dying before middle age had left to his only child a legacy of resentment that had flowered in her determination to get back the homestead at any odds. It would come to her in fee when the stepmother died—but she was only ten years older than the boy she had banished. She had hated the place, but clutched the increment of it—had sold her dower claim to coarse folk, who had defiled and starved everything, leaving the small farm, once a garden for productiveness, no longer worth cropping; fences gone, outbuildings destroyed piecemeal for firewood and the house itself leaning as though to a fall, leering the while at the highway through windows all but glassless.

Avis had made her fight upon plea of this misuse, but before that was determined the step-mother died. Only a life tenant, that had ended everything—leaving Avis to take possession, with precious little money, no experience and not a friend within a hundred miles.

How foolish she had been! Waiting would have given her this sordid inheritance and the money she had wasted on lawyers and courts could have made it partly habitable. She had come straight to it from the early train, smiling happily at the trig fields and farmsteads along the way, thrilling to feel that she too had a share of earth so good. The mail wagon had brought her. Now in the revulsion, she clutched at the thought that it might also take her away from this abomination of desolation.

Until it came, she would take stock of things, so went cautiously up rickety steps that threatened to trip her, and across a rotting piazza floor to a door hanging upon one hinge and shaking, in each wind that blew. It was heavy, solid walnut, daubed over with lamp-black gray, guiltless of lock or knob, but with a hole through which, from the grime about it, a greasy latch-string had hung. Pushing through it, she barely saved herself from falling into a rude cellar, the door had been taken up, save for a single plank down the middle of the hall. It ran the length of the two big rooms either side. Somehow she managed to get through it, and out in the back yard, not wholly uninviting. It had a well-curb, a sweep, trees visible in leaf, with here and there patches of grass undefiled. Hammocks slung between trees, a smoldering fire of logs, and a tent visible above tall artichoke flowers, gave her pause. Nobody was in sight, but clearly the place was occupied. Hidden by auto-camps, expecting squatters right. She must find them and speak them fair. As she stood thinking how best to do it, she was hailed over-clear from the artichoke jungle: "Young woman, what brings you here? Lost your way?"

"Have you lost yours? I've simply come home," Avis said, her courage flaring up at the insolent note in the voice. The owner of it whistled, then ejaculated: "Home! Like that. Mean you're putting in a claim for this, No Woman's Land?"

"Only a little," free and clear," Avis flung at him. Again he whistled, but disappeared among the artichokes, to come back in half a minute with a wicked looking gun.

Glaring at her, he said: "I'll take you to the road—on the chance that you're crazy. If you happen not to be, you'll go on your way and forget about your death."

"Indeed, I will not!" Avis answered. "What are you doing here? Get out! Right away!"

"You've got a nerve," the man said, with an oil grin.

"And this to back it," Avis said, low and coolly, whipping a light automatic from the folds of her loose coat, and blessing the chance that had made her father insist she become an expert markswoman. "I don't want to hurt you," she went on. "But, unless you go—and quick about it—going won't be easy."

"Say gal! Are you bluffin'—same as I am? My gun ain't loaded," the man began, backing away. For answer a bullet sang a foot from his ear—at which he let out a yell that brought another man on the scene. He was decent looking, young and tall, face and hands grimy, but, withal, not unclean. "What the devil?" he began, stopping short at sight of Avis in substitute. "What's the trouble, madam? Are you shooting us up just for the sport of it?"

"No, because you are trespassing on my property," Avis said, her eyes blazing. "I am Avis Glyn, owner of this place by entail of my grandfather, Eldred Glyn."

"Oh, the missing heir! We hoped you were dead." The newcomer said honestly. "Because, you see, we could not find you, there's a chance of striking oil over on that high yonder above the old orchard."

"Then I'll take it, if you please. Please also to remove yourselves before there is an accident," Avis answered, glancing affectionately at her gun.

The tall fellow smiled at her. "Better go snacks with us," he said. "True we're wildcatters, but we can't cheat you worse than the big companies will do. We've looked the ground over thoroughly and really we tried to find out who owned it. If you say so, we'll put down test wells, charging you nothing if we don't strike oil."

"And if you do—everything. Oh, no, sir. That won't do at all. The place is mine—down to the middle of the earth and up to the sky."

"Will you sell it for a thousand down? You never can do anything with it," the tall fellow said persuasively.

Avis shook her head. "I'm not a blind trader," she said. "I got here only an hour ago. All I shall do right now is to say 'Go'—and stay here to see that you do it."

The tall fellow laughed heartily saying with a bow: "You have surely got your nerve."

Avis did not go back with the mail man. Instead she made a sort of truce with the wild-catters. They might put down a well, while her house was being made habitable—but under an equitable contract. She found lodgings at the nearest farmhouse, received for property serving her instead of chaperon. And she plunged rather recklessly in the matter of regular-paying cash, though on the strength of her prospects she could have had long and liberal credit. She grew to like the tall fellow, he was a rough diamond—but his understrapper, who had tried to frighten her off, she kept more than at a distance. She wrote not quite truthfully to young Gleeson—who had taken her case when it seemed a hopeless one. All about betterments, and nothing about the oil prospect. But when a lucky last shot brought in a gusher she sent him a telegram: "Come at once. I said 'No' the last time. Now decision is reversed." And, of course, Gleeson came.

Hairy Growths Removed Entire, Roots and All

The vexed question of how to completely banish superfluous hair has been solved at last! By means of the new phelactine process, the hair entire, roots and all, comes out before your very eyes, easily, harmlessly, "quick as a wink." Quite different from the depilatory, electrical and shaving methods, Phelactine is perfectly odorless, non-irritating, non-poisonous—a child could eat it without the least injury. It leaves the skin so soft, smooth, hairless, no one could tell you ever had a moustache or other hairy growth. Procure a stick of phelactine from your druggist, follow the simple instructions, and you will certainly be astonished and delighted.

BUDGET HEARINGS IN FINANCE COMMITTEE NEARING COMPLETION

Only Board of Control Requests to be Heard Before Full Budget is Ready

NO RADICAL CUT IN FUNDS POSSIBLE SAYS COMMITTEE

Total Reduction Over Last Year Not Expected to be Great

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—The joint finance committee of the legislature has almost completed its budget hearings, with only the appropriation requests of the state board of control to be considered before the final formulation of the budgets, Henry Huber, chairman of the committee, announces.

Committee hearings have been so expedited this year, he said, that the work is several weeks ahead of that two years ago. It is his opinion that the visiting committees of the legislature will complete its inspection of state charitable and penal institutions within the next two weeks, and present its report to the committee. When this is done, the final budget hearings will be held.

Members of the committee reassert that the people of the state need not expect any drastic cut in appropriations for 1923-24 and 1924-25 over those of the last two years. Some reduction is expected by the committee, but the total is not expected to be great.

The total cost of running the state government, including all departments, universities, normal schools and other educational activities, amounted to approximately $33,000,000 last year.

The committee recently agreed to cut the appropriation to the National guard $215,000 annually. This cut, according to members of the committee, is the largest single reduction, while other cuts are being made that are expected to be met by required increases in some departments.

Few increases in appropriations are being recommended by the committee, its members say. They are holding down all departments to a point consistent with efficient administration, according to their statements.

Appropriation bills are receiving close scrutiny from members of both houses, where they have been up for consideration. Members of the finance committee have been called on to explain any increases put for in the bills.

NORMAL EARNINGS FOR STATE CORPORATIONS REPORTED BY TAX EXPERT FOR YEAR 1922

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—The earnings of Wisconsin corporations during the year 1922, were practically normal indicating that the state income tax would yield a much larger amount this year than on 1921 incomes, according to Carroll Atwood, tax commissioner. Early returns, he said, showed that improved business conditions prevailed in this state during the last year.

A report of the tax commission shows that on 1921 earnings the total income tax collected amounted to approximately $3,000,000. This is less than half of the total collected on 1920 incomes, after the personal property offset had been allowed, judging by the commission report.

Mr. Atwood declared that the corporation earnings already returned to the commission show that the total collected tax on 1922 incomes will probably be around $5,000,000. This will include individual as well as corporation income tax. He pointed out that the individual earnings showed but little slump during the period of depression.

According to Commissioner Atwood the amount of back taxes that can be collected by the tax commission during the coming year will be much less than in the past.

"Our auditors in the field have all the high spots and cannot be expected to uncover the same large amount of unreported income," he said. "From now on the investigations will bring smaller returns because of the back audits during the war period."

This return to a normal condition of business in Wisconsin has had a marked effect upon pending tax legislation, according to Speaker John L. Dahl and Senator H. A. Severson authors of two general revenue measures.

They both declare that their proposals were drafted on the basis of 1921 corporation and individual earnings, before the tax commission was in possession of information showing the improved business condition. Both bills are being redrafted on the basis of the additional information now at the command of the tax commission, their authors say.

Speaker Dahl said that the returns from the tax commission, gave the governor additional information on which to base the rates in his tax measure. He declared that this same information was being taken advantage of to readjust the schedules of his bill.

LEIBER ROMANTIC IN ROMEO ROLE

Fritz Leiber, handsome romantic actor coming to the La Crosse theater matinee and night Saturday, April 14th, proves the old adage that femininity is ever fascinated by the romantic and that women as a class, irrespective of age, worship at the shrine of the matinee idol.

As Romeo in the greatest of all love themes, "Romeo and Juliet," Mr. Leiber presents an imposing figure of grace and beauty. During recent performances in New York, Chicago, Washington, Baltimore and other cities the young star was utterly besieged by fluttering ee-eds, sub-debs, debutantes and even coy spinsters who all are imbued with the spirit of romance, all seeking autographed photos or an opportunity to see the star at close range.

A series of letters, tokens of esteem and admiration, and all indited by members of the feminine sex coming pouring into Mr. Leiber's mail with such profusion that he has employed a neutral secretary to assort his mail.

Charles H. Muskler, wanted in Minneapolis to answer to charges of concealing mortgaged property, who was arrested in West Salem and brought to La Crosse to await the arrival of Hennepin county sheriffs, has been returned to Minneapolis. On Tuesday Sheriff Lund was notified by the Hennepin county sheriff that Muskler was wanted in Minneapolis and that he could be found on an advertising car on the Milwaukee road at West Salem. Sheriff Lund phoned Deputy Sheriff Marshall of West Salem and in a few minutes Muskler was under arrest. He was brought to La Crosse and held in the county jail until Wednesday when an undersheriff from Minneapolis came for him.

You Do Your Own Work by Looking At Your Hands

Now—lovely hands for housewives
A new idea in household soaps
Pure soap!

Do you know that scores of women whose lovely hands you envy do every bit of their own work?

Women have found a better way in dishwashing and household work—a way that is safer for the hands.

It is offered here to you.

A household soap as bland as a fine toilet soap. Yet more quickly cleansing than the harshest, old-time laundry soap.

Scrub, wash, clean — yet keep your hands pretty.

A New Idea

3 housewives in 4, before the days of Green Arrow, had ugly hands.

Super-strong household soaps were the reason.

Most contain 25% to 40% water glass — a skin wrecker. Of 28 popular brands of these soaps, 27 under test thus revealed themselves.

Harsh suds and white hands don't go together.

So we developed this new idea in soap. A household soap for the woman who does her own work.

And thousands of women thank us for it.

A Few Cents a Month

The cost of using it is but a few cents a month extra. For it goes almost twice as far. Pure soap and unadulterated. And you must figure soap cost by the month, not by the bar.

Obtain today a supply of Green Arrow at your grocer's.

Then look at your hands one week from today.

That is all we ask.

Green Arrow Soap comes in two forms — Cake Soap, for general household use — Chips (or flakes) for laundry and fine fabrics. Both offer you unusual advantages.

Your Hands Tell the Story

Rough, ugly hands tell a story to the world. A story of the kitchen, the laundry, the scrub bucket.

Most women do housework. But few want to tell it to every chance acquaintance.

Most laundry soaps contain 25% to 40% water glass. This adulterant, technically known as silicate of soda, is invariably accompanied by an excess of caustic. It is this "filler"—not soap—that ruins hands. Green Arrow is made with the precision of a toilet soap and is pure soap.

Now you can have white and lovely hands regardless of how much kitchen work you do.

For your hands and your clothes sakes, go to your grocer and insist on buying GREEN ARROW.

Look at this oil range that really burns gas

AT your first trial of the Florence Oil Range you will be astonished by the intensity of the heat. What you see is a clean, blue flame that you can turn high or low. But what you are burning is really gas—oil gas—the vapor given off by heated kerosene.

To light it you just turn the heat regulator and touch a match to the burner. The burners are large, the heat close to the cooking. There is neither smoke nor odor — just heat.

Have you seen this modern range?

No words will convince you of the advantages of this most modern of cooking stoves the way five minutes' examination of the range itself will. It is well worth a trip to the store of the nearest Florence dealer. There you can light the stove and actually feel its efficiency.

Convenience and beauty are two of the qualities of the Florence Oil Range, but there is a third, equally important.

It is most economical

Kerosene is easy to get and much less costly than other fuels. Unlike a coal stove, you use the Florence only when you need it for cooking. Turn a lever and it is out.

Won't you drop in at a store and look at this efficient, botherless, beautiful cook stove? Test it for yourself and see whether it does not belong in your kitchen. The store will be glad to render you every courtesy.

WOMEN'S CLUB HEARS ADDRESS ON AUSTRALIA

Wisconsin Writer Talks Before La Crosse Women's Club at Meeting Wednesday

Mr. Albert O. Barton of Madison, talked before the La Crosse Women's club at its regular meeting held at the home of Mrs. Harry Spence, 1323 King street, Wednesday afternoon, on the subject of Australian writers. Mrs. Lars Instenes arranged the program. Mrs. George Lovel gave an interesting paper on the life of Thomas. The committee reported a clearing of $60.25 for the Community Council bazaar. Plans were suggested for the observance of Wisconsin's seventy-fifth anniversary on May 9.

"There has been a marked change in Australian poetry since the war," said Mr. Barton. "There has been a decided outpouring of poetry which fill books and newspapers, and it is not only more prolific but more general. In the old times the three subjects for verse were horses and racing, sheep shearing, and mining.

"The three outstanding poets of Australia have been Adam Lindsay Gordon, Henry C. Kendall and James B. Steven. Henry Lawson, now most popular in prose and verse, should not be omitted from passing mention among the contemporaries."

Mr. Barton is a translator and writer of note. He has collaborated with Dr. R. B. Anderson of Madison in his translations of Norwegian, Swedish and Danish literature. Though he is one of the Wisconsin writers, his ever day work is a secretarial position in the state oil inspector's department at the capitol in Madison. Recently he has written a book on "The Folletts." Winning Wisconsin.

YOUNG AND YOUNG

LIGHTS PARTICULAR FEATURE OF BARD OF AVON'S PLAYS IN LEIBER VERSION

(BY HELEN DYSON)

"DOWN in the second row, in the center—there's Fritz Leiber," said George Ford, the young Shakespearean actor's manager. This was in St. Paul last Monday during an afternoon performance at the "Orph." Mr. Leiber, who was playing in the Twin Cities, had slipped over from his hotel for vaudeville, since he had no matinee of his own.

And there in the gloom of the hall, distinctly outlined against the glow from the stage footlights, identifiable immediately for their dignity and grace, were the silhouetted head and shoulders of an Avonian figure. The shock of bobbed hair and the finely cut profile, now more haggard than when he spoke Bassanio's lines to Mantell's Shylock, were reminiscent at once of quiet Stratford.

That was just for a moment, for up front some clever but noisy musicians were finishing an accompaniment to which Rene Roberts was dancing in a unique costume, and Shakespeare's stra was so obviously fascinated, that it took our own attention back to the stage.

He Looks a Hamlet

But the illusion returned as we met later, and sat in deep chairs in a quiet corner of the Saint Paul Hotel, exchanging convictions upon Shakespeare and his art. Mr. Leiber looks the part of Hamlet off stage as well as on, and English tweeds and a pipe do not dispell the impression.

The spirit of the real Bard of Avon acclaimed by the pit and the stalls alike, seems to speak again in the resonant voice of his actor disciple. To make Shakespeare interesting and appealing to the public at large—to "put across" the universal sympathy and understanding of the dramatist for all sorts of people—is the purpose to which he has dedicated his career.

"What in the race has never changed?" propounded Mr. Leiber.

"Its very humanness," he answered himself, "and it is that broad humanity in Shakespeare that appeals to low-brows and high-brows at once. Unfortunately, the scholars have all but buried Shakespeare alive in commentaries and suppositions which have scared away those less inclined to study. But after all, Shakespeare appeals to all hearts alike, and it the main to understand him, one needs only to be able to feel. It is impossible to be so stupid as not to 'understand' Shakespeare.

"Ibsen furnishes a contrast in this respect. He dissects a corpse, intellectually and truly, but Shakespeare clothes it with breathing flesh and blood and vitality.

"In Hamlet, for instance, an actor must not merely show that he understands Shakespeare—he must, to succeed, make the audience endure with that young man, Hamlet, his suffering and conflict. Our company is trying to make Shakespeare accessible to the average theater-goer who is apt to avoid him.

Never Was Dead

When the conversation switched to the "Shakespearean revival" Mr. Leiber smiled. "You can't revive what has never been dead," he said. "A number of actors have taken a notion this year to play a Hamlet or a Juliet or some other character of the dramatist, but that is not necessarily playing Shakespeare. The so-called Shakespearean revival is only a 'dip' into Shakespeare by a few actors who will probably not continue in those roles."

Mr. Leiber has himself grown up under Shakespearean tradition. Nothing has succeeded in tempting him to leave the infinite variety and opportunity that the presentation of these plays offers, and it is possible that his own success last year at the immense Lexington Theater in New York has had much to do with the present "revivals."

"There is no reason why Shakespeare would not make excellent moving pictures," continued Mr. Leiber, who has played before the screen as well, "if only the producers would not attempt too great spectacular effects, but stick to Shakespeare as he is. 'Macbeth,' for instance, is a truly great play even if given in pantomime.

No Long Waits

"The 'two-hour traffic of our stage' is a Shakespearean tradition to which Mr. Leiber returns. By using few and light sets and properties, he eliminates waits between acts, and his 'Hamlet' which he played in Saint Paul on Monday evening, with its many scenes, comes within a few minutes of the two-hour time.

The Leiber stage settings though reduced to the minimum, produce the maximum of pictorial effect. With a richness of lights and shadows and the beauty of simple drapery he has achieved remarkable scenic effects. These are additionally interesting since Mr. Leiber, himself, makes and paints many of the sets. The beauty of these stage pictures remains indelibly in the mind after the play has been seen. In "Hamlet" for example, during the "To be or not to be" soliloquy the tragic prince bends, a sable clad figure, in contemplation, over a flickering candle, with behind him, a stained glass window at the back of a black-gray platform; and equally striking, in the scene where the king prays, he kneels beyond a stained glass window, silhouetted against its tone of flame set among blue draperies. Another telling contrast is where, in the dumb show, the somber Hamlet leans against the bright yellow and white of Ophelia's gown. The fusion of early morning is particularly successful in the platform scene after Hamlet has talked with his father's ghost, when, as the day breaks, the tree trunks stand out along the background, hazy amid mist. The gravedigging and burial scene has never been so successful yet, nor so convincing in its/portrayal.

A Youthful Prince

Fritz Leiber brings to the part of the versatile prince, youth and flaming emotion. He reads the lines exquisitely, and he does more than that—he presents the soul of Hamlet to his audience. Virginia Bronson plays Ophelia with an appealing sweetness, a quiet suggestion, and an absence of the usual rant in the mad scenes. Her voice is entirely satisfying, with its clear quality and perfect enunciation.

Olive Oliver does her splendid work as the queen mother, and Philip Quin is most successful as the talkative old busybody, Polonius.

Mr. Leiber's manager, George Ford, is himself an interesting person. He is the son of Henry Clay Ford, manager of the historic Ford's Theater, Washington, D. C., where Abraham Lincoln was assassinated. He has been an actor, besides for some time managing Robert Mantell, with whom, also Mr. and Mrs. Leiber played for years. Virginia Bronson is Mrs. Fritz Leiber off stage. Blanche Chapman, who once played Ophelia to Edwin Booth's Hamlet, is Mr. Ford's mother. She will play the nurse in Romeo and Juliet here Saturday.

Next year the company plans to present along with its Shakespeare, "The Three Musketeers." Mr. Leiber will plan and paint much of the scenery for the new play so the summer promises to be a busy one down in the sea-side home of the actor. Mr. Leiber, it is said, has a peculiar genius for making costumes. He will fashion, out of whole cloth, with no pattern, a most attractive garment in a short time. A most harmonious variety of interest this: acting as a vocation and scene and costume making as an avocation.

'PHONE CLUB ORGANIZED AT "Y" MEETING

At a lovely dinner table, in the shape of a "T," decorated with pink roses and candles, twenty-seven girls from the La Crosse telephone company met at the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday evening and started an organization. Miss Nellie L. Edwards was elected temporary chairman and Miss Mamie Richmond the temporary secretary. Miss Hazel Lennon, industrial secretary of the "Y," presided at the meeting.

A trio from the Happy Hearts club including Theresa Seversen, Gladys Malley and Ann Stair, gave a program of ukelele and original songs. Miss Doris Kathary talked over the plans for the May Fete and enlisted the girls' interest. After dinner the girls spent a social evening in the gymnasium. The committee on organization included the Misses Rose Shedesky, Stella Manning and Sigrid Braathen. This is the first division of the telephone company to be organized. Another meeting will take place in two weeks.

Blackheads Go Quick By This Simple Method

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body, go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of calonite powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them large and unsightly—while the simple application of calonite powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.

What to Eat and Why
"Proteins" in Your Food Important for Tissue-Building

The Proteins in our foods are in charge of an important work for us. They are a necessary factor in building and maintaining the body-tissues. We need a certain, definite quantity of Proteins daily from our food—and the quality as well as the quantity of the Proteins is important.

Grape-Nuts includes the excellent Proteins of the wheat, and the supply of Proteins is supplemented by the cream or milk with which Grape-Nuts is eaten.

The Proteins in Grape-Nuts are combined with a very desirable form of carbohydrates (the grain starches) which are partially pre-digested through the long, slow baking by which Grape-Nuts is made. In its easy and quick digestion and assimilation Grape-Nuts helps prevent the unfavorable intestinal conditions which often occur from other sources of Protein supply and which greatly interfere with nutrition.

Grape-Nuts, with cream or milk, is a complete food, containing phosphorus, iron, calcium and vitamins—elements vitally necessary for the body's needs but often lacking in modern, "refined" foods.

You will find Grape-Nuts wonderfully crisp, flavory and appetizing—a delightful part of any meal and an important aid to health and fitness.

FLORIDA CONVICT BOSS INDICTED FOR DEATH OF DAKOTAN

MADISON, Fla.—At liberty here on bail of $10,000 Walter Higginbotham, convict camp "whipping boss," is awaiting trial for first degree murder in connection with the death of Martin Tabert, of North Dakota, who, witnesses said, was beaten to death by Higginbotham.

Late Wednesday the Madison county jury in session here for investigation of the case, indicted Higginbotham on three counts charging first degree murder. The trial may come up at a special term of court on May 15, at Cross City, Florida, county seat of Dixie county, where the alleged beating took place in February of 1922.

Boy Whipped to Death?

Charges against Higginbotham grew out of an alleged whipping he gave Martin Tabert of North Dakota, while Tabert was serving a three months' sentence in the camp of the Putnam Lumber company at Clara, Fla. Tabert died three days after the whipping.

The grand jury started investigating the case Wednesday morning, hearing about ten of the sixteen witnesses brought here from Iowa, Texas, Georgia, and all sections of Florida to testify. Many of the witnesses were men who served sentences at the lumber camp with Tabert and former guards employed at the camp.

Witnesses who appeared before the grand jury have been summoned to Tallahassee to appear before the joint legislative committee set up to investigate the affair, it was announced.

"All the activities at the camp pertaining to brutalities of prisoners are true," declared A. S. Shivers, of Doe Run, Ga., a former guard. Shivers, while awaiting to testify, told of floggings and other brutalities which he said took place at the prison camp. He said men were forced to work waist high in water in the swamp from sun up to sun down and that he was employed to stand over them with a sawed off shot gun to prevent their escape and to speed them up in their work.

He declared that Higginbotham rode around the camp astride a white horse with a whip weighing about seven and a half pounds hanging from the pommell of the saddle. No man, he said, prisoner or guard, could survive the malaria if he remained on the job. He said he quit his job as a guard because of his health.

Body Mass of Welts

J. W. Jackson, another guard, asserted he was prepared to tell a story of how he made ready the body of Tabert for burial. He said the body was almost a solid mass of sores while deep welts stood out on the back of Tabert which he said were caused by a heavy lash.

Putnam is Badger Firm

MADISON, Wis.—The Putnam Lumber company referred to in dispatches from Madison, Fla., as being involved in a case of alleged whipping of prisoners farmed out to the company, is registered as a Wisconsin corporation, with Eau Claire given as its headquarters, according to report of the secretary of state. The concern has been a Wisconsin corporation since 1903.

FRIENDS OF DRY LAWS MUST ACT, SPEAKERS ASSERT

Prohibition enforcement is expensive, he continued, but a law that can seize and convict 38,000 people in a year can hardly be called a failure. The wet forces oppose it because it is a success, and they know that they must win their fight soon or not at all, he asserted.

There is an organized body fighting the dry laws, said Rev. Corbett. The name of the organization is the National Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, and they have headquarters in the national capital and branches in every section of the country. They are raising millions of dollars to carry on their fight, he said.

Oust Rum Fleet

"The time has come for the civil government to do something," the speaker went on. He advocated the building of a vast fleet of speedy warships to drive rum runners from the seas. He said that the United States should ignore the three mile limit now in force under international law and go outside after the rum ships, no matter what flag they carried at their mastheads.

"The wet forces are already at work," said the speaker, "on plans to dominate the great national political conventions in 1924. They are anxious to put into the platform of each great party a plank calling for the return of light wines and beer. This is the crisis which faces the American people. If something is not done to stop this movement, it will be impossible to vote anything but a wet ticket in the next presidential election. The only thing that can stop the wets from going through with their program is for the drys to dominate the coming conventions."

Following Rev. Corbett's address, Mr. James H. Woertendyke of Chicago, a member of the squadron, spoke briefly on law enforcement, after which he conducted an open forum on questions regarding the enforcement of the law.

About fifty persons attended the afternoon meeting Wednesday.

U. S. PARTICIPATION IN WORLD COURT ESSENTIAL TO PEACE SAYS HOOVER

be fully considered by the senate. All we do if we ratify President Harding's proposal—all the promises we make—the only obligation we take are these, and only these: We promise to pay a share of the running expenses of the court, a matter less than $40,000 a year, and we promise to take part with forty-six other nations in the choosing of the judges. The judges are men of international reputation, who sit nine years and are freed of all prejudices except to maintain principle and law.

"There is another section of opponents of President Harding's proposal who condemn the idea, not because they do not agree to its primary purpose and method, but solely because it was erected under the auspices of the league of nations.

Not a "League" Court

"But we are not by this act entering the league in any sense. The connection of the court with the league is indeed remote. Its sole relationship is that the judges are elected as provided in its own statute, not by the league, but by the representatives of the nations to the league acting as an elective body for this purpose. It is this elective body that we join, not the league.

"To some people the league is such anathema that even its many good acts are bad. Let us admit frankly that there are among our people many thousands, perhaps hundreds of thousands, who, as regards the phrase 'league of nations,' are still under the tyranny of emotions associated with that phrase during the political controversy of the last four years. It is unhappily true that in such controversies, a phase is given an odium which disturbs the orderly march of entirely disassociated ideas. What they would willingly assent to as a thing standing by itself, they shrink from merely because it has association with a phrase.

"One Unseemly Suggestion"

"There are a few people who apparently maintain an open mind on international co-operation by rearrangement of their prejudices. The court is already in existence. It is largely the handiwork of American thought and American hands. For us to insist upon its being torn down and re-erected just because it was created by a conference called by the league (in which Americans took part) is one of the most unseemly suggestions of national selfishness that can be conceived.

"Another section of the opponents of President Harding's proposal condemn it because it does not go far enough, because it has no teeth in it. This is the basis of Senator Borah's objection. I admit the enlightenment and the courage of his position. Senator Borah wishes to go much further than President Harding. He would have an international court of such strength that it would try war itself, and would have us join it in such a manner that we would be obligated to its jurisdiction.

No Quarrel With Borah

"Senator Borah's international court in its relation to the nations would be somewhat an analogy to the supreme court of the United States in its relation to our states. Now, by all means, let us have no quarrel—on the contrary let us have admiration and respect for those who show the vision and the courage to go this whole distance. But let us admit that as a practical matter, for reasons familiar to all of you, America is not ready to go this far.

"Permit us also to make the plea that President Harding's proposal should not be condemned because the international court does not go the whole gamut of international co-operation. Those who condemn the proposal because it is merely one method, are the ones who would have complained on the Wednesday night of Genesis, and would have gone to bed with a grouch because the Creator had not yet made a finished job of the sun and the moon, and would have called a mass meeting on Thursday morning to demand more forward action.

Impracticable Reformers

"Wisdom does not so much consist in knowledge of the ultimate; it consists in knowing what to do next. Frequently those who contribute most to destroy good causes are those who refuse to work day by day within the field of practicable accomplishment, and who would oppose all progress unless their own particular ideas be adopted in full. Progress in the world must come about through men and women of high aspirations and high ideals. But no less must its real march be achieved through men and women whose feet are upon the ground, whose proposals are devoid of illusions, and above and beyond all that are within the practicability of day to day statesmanship.

"To sum up, this is one more, and an essential step on the road of fundamentals to all real peace, and that is the maintenance of good will through the elimination of the causes of war.

World Can't Endure Another War

"To attain universal peace is indeed one of the great ideals before all humanity. It is never wrong to recall that not only moral degeneration and the loss of life flow from war, but that the delicate machinery of social organization of production, and commerce upon which our civilization is founded cannot stand such a shock again. There can be no confidence as to the continuity of our civilization itself unless we can build up preventive safeguards.

"In our generation we need no emphasis by survey of the grief in millions of homes from the last war, the miseries of famine and anarchy, the revolutions that have swept many countries and threatened others, the lowered standards of living, and the more terrible possibilities of a future war through the advancement of science—to warrant any of us submitting to the condemnation as idealists if we can but build even a little of the road to peace."

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK—Opening prices in Thursday's market were irregular. Short covering operations resulted in moderate gains in some of the oil and equipment shares, but this was counteracted by selling in other quarters, some of it from impaired marginal accounts. Baldwin and Mack Truck each advanced a point and Dupont moved up ¾. Pullman, Crucible and Studebaker were slightly reactionary.

The price movements continued mixed in the early trading. Miami copper advanced 2⅛ points and gains of a point or more were registered by Consolidated Gas, Tobacco Products, Pacific Oil and Punta Alegre Sugar. Mexican Petroleum, ordinarily inactive, opened three points above the previous sale. Skelly Oil and American Chain, Class "A" stock, each dropped a point to a new low record for the year. Gulf States and Republic Steels, Utah Copper and American Agricultural Chemical were also heavy. Foreign exchanges opened steady. Demand sterling was unchanged at $4.65¼ and French francs yielded one point to 6.67 cents.

The irregular price movement continued throughout the morning, scattered selling in various sections of the list being used as a screen for short covering operations elsewhere. Sales were on a considerably reduced scale. Partial recovery from recent heaviness was made by most of the oil, independent steel, equipment and food shares, the gains ranging from 1 to 1½ points. Trading in rail shares was sluggish and mixed. Reading, second preferred, advanced two points and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico 1¼, but Jersey Central dropped seven points and Delaware and Hudson 1¼. American Express broke five points and marked heaviness was noted in some of the specialties and local tractions. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

Whether because of the outcome of a stronger technical position produced by Wednesday's selling movement, or indifference to trade conditions, prices of oil shares continued to rise in the afternoon, despite the announcement of a resolution in prices of Ohio crude. Kelly-Springfield was heavily bought, scoring a gain of three points. Dupont Powder and Atlas Powder advanced 2¾ and eight points respectively to new high figures for the year.

The closing was irregular. Further liquidation in the high priced shares induced some selling in other quarters in the late dealings. Jersey Central extended its loss to nine points and American Express to eight. Sales which were considerably reduced approximated 715,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill.—With profit-taking sales largely in evidence wheat averaged lower in price Thursday during the early dealings. Rain in Oklahoma and prospects of moisture elsewhere southwest had some bearish influence. Offerings, however, were readily absorbed by commission houses, and the market was far from being one-sided. The opening which ranged from ⅛ to ⅜c lower with May $1.23¾ to $1.24 and July $1.22 to $1.22¼, was followed by a slight further decline and then by transient rallies that in some cases lifted the market well above Wednesday's finish.

Subsequently sellers became scarce at times and July and September touched a new high price record for the season. The fact, however, that July was up nearly seven cents in a week led to a reaction. The close was unsettled at ¼c net decline to 1¼c advance, with May $1.24⅛ to $1.24¼ and July $1.22¼ to $1.22⅜.

Corn and oats swayed with wheat. Trading was on a liberal scale. After opening at 1c decline to ⅜c advance, May 80¾ to 80⅝c, the corn market recovered to about Wednesday's latest figure.

Later, all deliveries of corn and July and September oats went above the season's previous highest prices. Then, profit-taking brought about a setback. The close was unsettled at the same as Wednesday's finish to ⅝c lower, May 80½ to 80⅝c.

Oats started a shade to ¼c off, May 46¼c, but later recovered.

Provisions were firm in line with hog values.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

Take Salts at First Sign of Acid Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled, with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

MARQUETTE GLEE CLUB GIVEN GOOD RECEPTION HERE

A packed house greeted the appearance of the Marquette University Glee club at Pioneer hall on Wednesday night. The program, though long, was full of interest, and a revelation in the excellent quality of the singing and instrumental music.

The most notable feature of the evening's entertainment, from the standpoint of La Crosse people, was the singing of James Kelly, local artist, who sang three numbers, responding with an encore. The songs rendered by Mr. Kelly were "The Americans Come," "Little Man" and "Mother Machree." For an encore he sang "Smilin' Through." The songs were all rendered in a pleasing and forceful manner. Mr. Kelly is a bass singer, singing with the first bass section of the Glee club.

The solo offerings of Mr. Hertgen, violinist, and Victor Hamm, pianist, attracted a great deal of favorable comment. Both are accomplished musicians, and both delivered inspiring numbers. The Varsity quartet entertained with a variety of songs, all of which pleased the audience. Trombone Smiles and a saxophone also had many admirers. Several numbers, with solo parts carried by members of the club were well rendered.

All of the glee club numbers were pleasing and effectively sung, showing the result of constant training and able direction. The thirty voices blended perfectly in the most difficult passages.

Between the numbers of the dance which followed the concert, Miss Maud Jarvis, talented La Crosse girl who has won fame as a dancer, appeared in the beautiful and graceful dance, "The Dance of Spring," with music by Kreisler. As an encore she danced the "Balloon Dance." Victor Hamm played the piano accompaniment.

a special day for discussion of the important agricultural problem, only to meet with Chancellor Baldwin's regretful rejoinder that he could see no possibility of giving a day in the future and the declaration that it is most important that the minister of agriculture should make his statement Wednesday.

Cabinet Hopes to Save Hide

Two views prevail over the exciting events. On the government side, although some of the members admit that Mr. Baldwin and the other ministers acted somewhat flippantly, and that the government was hasty in invoking the closure motion, it was mostly held that when the house meets the effervescence will have subsided and some means of accommodation will be found.

On the other hand, the Laborites characterize the plan devised by the ministers and speaker as an ingenious quibble and declare that strict adherence to parliamentary tradition would have dictated the resignation of the government.

Press Blames Government

LONDON.—By The Associated Press. Neither the government nor the opposition is likely to derive much satisfaction from the commentaries on Wednesday's scene in the house of commons printed in the newspapers Thursday. The government is told that it has blundered and been slack, while the opposition is informed that it has brought upon itself the denunciation customary when any party in the house lets violence run away with reason.

The Times, which gives general support to the government, rebukes it for not showing a more accommodating attitude towards the opposition, but equally condemned the latter's "violent temper."

The liberal newspapers charge the government with shiftiness and incapacity and say that its policy of tranquility has proved to be a policy of drift.

The newspapers of New York require the annual cutting of 42,000 acres of timber to produce enough pulp for paper.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified cocoanut oil in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

BRITAIN TO STAND UP FOR RIGHTS IN MOSUL OIL FIELDS

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—Great Britain purposes entering an energetic protest against the granting by the Turkish nationalists of certain concessions in Anatolia to the American interests headed by Rear Admiral Colby M. Chester if these concessions are found to embrace the Mosul oil fields, it was declared here Thursday.

It is generally believed in London that in its present form the Chester agreement with the Turks differs materially from the original Turco-American convention, although no exact details have been received from Constantinople.

How far the Washington government can discreetly identify itself with the project is regarded here as problematical, inasmuch as the Angora government's action in awarding these concessions to Americans after they are alleged to have been previously given at least in part, to other countries, will undoubtedly raise issues calling for judicial or even international settlement.

Use Olive Oil For Hair Inclined to Be Dry, Brittle

INDUSTRIAL JUSTICE TOPIC OF SPEAKER AT C. OF C. DINNER

James H. Woertendyke Tells Businessmen of Need for Recognition of the Laws

James H. Woertendyke, a member of the "Flying Squadron" of speakers who have been holding a three-day series of lectures at the Congregational church was the speaker at the weekly noonday luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday. John Mulder, a friend of Mr. Woertendyke was the chairman of the meeting and introduced Mr. Woertendyke.

"Industrial Justice" was the topic of Mr. Woertendyke's remarks. Need for the recognition of the laws by the people, social justice and industrial justice especially to the farmer, were the three points discussed by Mr. Woertendyke.

"Without recognition of the law," said the speaker, "our individual interests would overlap on the other fellow's rights and when that happens injustice is done. The first protective tariff in this country was passed long, long ago and was designed to protect the American woolen mills interests that were then in their infancy and were located mostly in the vicinity of the Potomac river. In fixing the tariff was made to afford protection to other industries and also it did not take the few powerful woolen mills long to realize by combining they could put the smaller competitor out of business.

"In 1922 a law was passed to protect these small woolen interests and that sort of protection has been applied until it has culminated in the Sherman anti trust law. Enforcement of laws made for prosperity, justice and peace in a country. The attitude of the American should be to stand solidly behind the laws of the country. Every one should be strictly enforced. If the law works a hardship it should be repealed. To bring back prosperity and good feeling in the country see that every law, federal, state and city is enforced. If the people do not want them, repeal them.

"Crime is the product of social environments. A crime wave is sweeping the world and the exact environment about the criminal is responsible for that situation. It is the duty of the parents to build a proper environment about their child in the proper home. It also is the duty of the state and nation to do the same.

"It is time we were getting back to the fundamentals and down to the constitution, to a little more of the spirit of the times that produced Washington and Lafayette.

"And when it comes to industrial justice I say to say that my heart, your heart goes out to the man who 'eats' line by the factory, the mine and the field, who produces things to live and But there is one thing that needs be done and that more of the attention of this country should be given to the farmer. If he is prosperous, we are prosperous. If he is not, we are not. He should then have the largest margin possible to prosper. Attention should be given to markets where he may dispose of his produce. We should bend all efforts toward opening new lines, new avenues to the farmer to market his crops at the least possible cost. One way would be to open the Great Lakes to ocean going vessels and also to make real use of the Mississippi river. The bins are filled to overflowing, the granaries are fairly bursting but there is no way for the farmer to get all these things to the eastern markets and to European markets.

"One of the greatest sources of trouble is the overlapping of the great trusts in this country and it is up to the government to see that they don't overlap in the future."

LOUIS NAGLER TAKES POST IN SECRETARY OF STATE'S OFFICE

Louis B. Nagler, for two years assistant state prohibition commissioner, has resigned to accept the position of cashier in the office of Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman. He has already begun his new work. Prohibition Commissioner Stanley W. Smith has as yet not named a successor to Mr. Nagler. Mr. Nagler was formerly an assistant secretary of state. He succeeds F. H. Crocker, who became secretary of the state board of control. Mr. Nagler was well known in La Crosse, where he recently directed a number of raids.

BADGERS TO SPEAK AT RUST CONTROL MEET AT URBANA

Plans to be Discussed for Nation-wide Drive on Barberry Plant

MADISON, Wis.—Several Wisconsin men are on the program of the fifth annual conference of government leaders and state and private collaborators in black stem rust control. The meeting will be held at Urbana, Ill., April 23-25.

Noel F. Thompson, formerly chief of the federal barberry eradication forces in Wisconsin, will discuss the eradication of barberries with chemicals. He has lately been in charge of experiments for the United States department of agriculture which have developed new methods of destroying the bushes. Other Wisconsin men on the program are William A. Walker, state leader of the federal barberry eradication forces, and Carl Hanton of Superior, publicity director of the conference for the prevention of grain rust, an organization representing the agricultural interests of thirteen north central states.

In the course of the three-day session Dr. F. E. Kempton, pathologist in charge of barberry eradication for the United States department of agriculture, will announce the apportionment between the states of the congressional appropriation of $425,000 for 1923 and plans will be outlined for continuing the farm-to-farm search for barberries this season.

JUDGE HIGBEE ORDERS DIVORCED MAN TO PAY OVER FORTUNE

RACINE, Wis.—John W. Owen has been given forty days in which to pay his divorced wife, Jane Owen, $26,078.39, as the share of his estate. If the amount is not paid by that time, Mrs. Owen will become the owner of the apartment building at 846 Main street, valued at $30,000.

Judge Higbee, of La Crosse, Monday, granted Owen an extension of time in which to reach a cash settlement with his divorced wife, but pending such settlement, Mrs. Owen is to have charge of the apartment building and receive all rentals.

Owen was given his divorce in January, 1922. He first asked that the marriage be annulled, on the grounds that it was illegal, the couple having been married less than a year after Mrs. Owen's divorce from her first husband in Michigan. Jane Owen was granted one-third of her husband's estate of $77,000 before Judge Higbee here last January. Owen is a retired lawyer, having served the county as district attorney.

HARDING IS GIVEN SUMMER HEADGEAR BY STRAW HAT MEN

NEW YORK.—President Harding can keep in hat style this summer without spending a cent.

Together with announcement of straw hat modes, the National Association of Men's Straw Hat Manufacturers of America Thursday made public a letter from Mr. Harding thanking it for sending him a season's supply.

To be in style a man must have three hats this summer; not one in June, another in July, and the last in August, but three every minute; a rough straw for general protection; a Leghorn for sports wear, and a smooth straw for evening wear.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of sage and sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautiful, dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and lustre to the hair.

A well known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

"When tillage begins, other arts follow. The farmers, therefore, are the founders of human civilization."—Daniel Webster.

MONEY FOR THE FARM

IT is interesting to note that up to date government farm credits in the United States have furnished farmers with loans aggregating $1,500,000,000. Of these loans something over $500,000 have been furnished by the war finance corporation, and upwards of $900,000 by the federal farm loan bureau in connection with its administration of the federal farm loan banks and the joint stock land banks authorized by the federal government.

While this seems a substantial line of credit given in addition to the ordinary private banking facilities of the American farmers, it proved inadequate in one particular especially. Between the ordinary short time notes of the farmer and the long time real estate loans, there was a gap which hit the farmer who needed loans of six months to a year. This has now been taken care of, perhaps amply, by the Lenroot-Anderson bill passed in the last session of congress.

It is too early to say that with this addition to his credit the farmer will be able to secure at all times sufficient funds for carrying on his business in a business-like way, as for instance, holding produce for a rising market, and ample facilities for the movement of crops. However, that was the aim of the recent legislation, and should it prove inadequate, there need be no doubt that additional provisions will be made. At last, and after an uphill fight, the government of the United States has recognized the vital importance of agriculture and dairying, and has realized that it can not be impeded by lack of necessary operating funds without bringing disaster and hardship to the entire country.

ALFALFA

IF County Agent W. E. Spreiter has any such a thing as a hobby, it is alfalfa hay. Mr. Spreiter is one of the strongest advocates of alfalfa hay raising in the county, and he has reasons for his keen interest in the subject.

As an element of feed for dairy cattle, alfalfa hay has no equal. It is undisputably one of the best feeds for cattle, and at the same time, under present conditions of culture, it is one of the most expensive. It can be raised in La Crosse county, Mr. Spreiter insists, and further states that until it is raised here in large quantities, the price will remain at the top. Alfalfa may be purchased in some western states for as low as five dollars a ton, but by the time it is shipped into this part of the country, its price is equal to the home grown hay.

The hay may be grown on light soil, anywhere that it is dry. The only thing necessary is that the acid in the soil must be neutralized. Liming is the best way to do this. Lime is inexpensive and easy to spread. Plan to sow a few acres to alfalfa. Invest in prosperity. Grow more alfalfa.

WHY PLANT TREES?

Trees add value to property.

Trees protect pavements from the hot sun.

Trees cool the air in summer and radiate warmth in winter.

Trees provide homes for thousands of birds that help man in his fight against injurious insects.

Trees provide homes for many animals that are useful to men for food and clothing.

Trees help man in his fight for better sanitation.

Trees help keep the air pure for man and the lower animals.

Trees supply a large part of all the fuel in the world.

Trees give us wood, and wood provides us with building material, furniture, implements, utensils, tools and other useful things in great variety.

Trees provide one of the most striking and permanent forms of beauty.

Trees improve the climate and conserve soil and water.

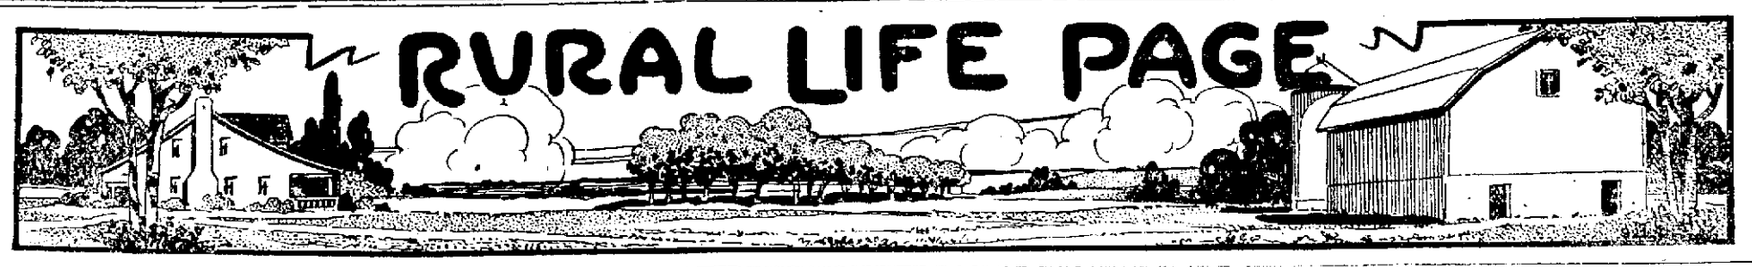
Trees provide a great variety of miscellaneous, useful products.

RURAL CLERGY TO STUDY WISCONSIN FARMER PROBLEMS

The second annual Rural Church conference for all Wisconsin clergymen interested in the rural church will be held June 25 to July 6 at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture. This is the announcement of J. H. Kolb, in charge of the rural life work.

Community welfare, recreation, and health as well as practical aspects of farming are included in the varied program.

Besides the staff of the agricultural college, arrangements are being made for rural leaders to appear before the gathering.



Coming Events

Farmers' mass meeting, West Salem pavilion, Tuesday, April 17, 1 p. m. John M. Kelley speaks on "Merchandising Wisconsin Dairy Products." Monroe county "Milk for Health" drive April 30 to May 5.

SHELBY TESTING CLUB MEETS AND DINES TUESDAY

Lady Bountiful spread her wand over the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday noon when the Shelby Cow Testing association met to dine and discuss affairs. Tables creaked and groaned under the weight of the good things to eat. There was more than enough chicken to go around—roast chicken, fried chicken, chicken pie—all competed for the favor of the diners. There was also potato salad in abundance a dozen different kinds and all good—home made bread, cakes, pickles, ice cream, everything that was needed to make the meal complete.

There was more than enough food for 150 persons, but less than a hundred were in attendance at meal time. Bad roads, chicken pox and measles kept away many who had planned on being present.

Interesting Program

Following the meal an interesting and entertaining, as well as highly instructive program was held. J. J. Felber, president of the Chamber of Commerce was called upon first to speak. He gave a short address of welcome at all times to make use of the Chamber of Commerce rooms—all that is needed is a little advance notice and arrangements will be made, he said. He further said that anything a farmer desired an invitation to the Chamber of Commerce to hold a picnic on his front lawn, it would be promptly accepted. He also said that the need for co-operation between the farmer and the city man is one of the paramount needs of the present.

Community singing, led by Mr. Joseph Leeder, music director of the normal school, made a pleasing interlude. Next on the program after the singing was Charles Cone, chairman of the agricultural bureau of the Chamber of Commerce. He added the welcome of the agricultural bureau to the welcome of Mr. Felber.

Prof. Humphrey

Prof. George C. Humphrey of the University of Wisconsin gave an interesting and instructive talk on animal husbandry in South America. The talk was illustrated with slides, made from pictures which Prof. Humphrey himself took last year while on an inspection trip to South America. Prof. Humphrey is the head of the animal husbandry department of the University of Wisconsin.

Russell Castner, tester for the association, through whose efforts, largely, the meeting Tuesday was made possible, spoke briefly on the benefits of cow testing work, and voiced the hope that next year will see more farmers in the association.

County Agent W. E. Spreiter was next on the speaking program. He hit upon two main points in his short talk, pure bred sires and alfalfa. He pointed out that the only way to build a good herd is by the use of pure bred sires, and stated also that alfalfa hay is the best crop that farmers can plant on a light soil.

Prof. Humphrey again addressed the meeting, having the second time the subject of "Feeding of Dairy Cattle." He emphasized the fact that feeding is the all important factor in production. The university of Wisconsin, through the agricultural college, will soon issue a booklet containing the rules of feeding, said Prof. Humphrey.

George Baier, president of the association, presided at the meeting.

The Sterling Trio, an orchestra composed of normal school students, played during the meal for the community singing. The members of the orchestra are Alfred Schuman, cornet; Jack Schuren, piano, and Eldon Mulder, violin.

WASHINGTON C. T. A. REPORT FOR MARCH

The forty pound list for March, although lower than last month's, shows a 50 per cent gain over the corresponding month last year. A number of herds that have been doing well since feeding season started, have dropped considerably this month when oil meal supplies gave out.

The 4-grade Guernsey herd owned by August Hammes and Sons again holds the high herd average, making 827.6 pounds milk or 40.57 pounds butter fat. Frank Misna and Sons' grade Holsteins running a close second making an average of 1,036.4 pounds milk or 38.6 pounds fat.

ELMER AMBORN, BANGOR POULTRY EXPERT, REAPS PROFIT FROM HENS ACCORDING TO REPORT FOR YEAR

ELMER AMBORN, poultry expert of Bangor, who recently filed a report of a year's experimentation with his flock in a contest with the Successful Farmer, gives his opinions on poultry raising for profit as follows:

"Regarding the poultry industry in the rural districts," says Mr. Amborn, "I think that it is generally true that a large majority of the farmers have too small poultry houses. The quarters are too crowded for the hens, especially the laying hens in winter quarters. No matter how well the hens are fed, if they haven't quarters large enough to give them sufficient exercise they will not respond and will not produce a profit."

Cleanliness An Asset

Mr. Amborn built his poultry house, which is 28 by 56 feet, with a floor space of 1586 square feet, just about right for a flock of 400 chickens. He has it equipped with dropping boards and trap nests of the easy-cleaning type and he cleans them often. He considers cleanliness one of the most important factors in successful poultry raising.

"In addition to the necessary house and equipment," says Mr. Amborn, "it is always advisable to select and cull for higher egg production. Poultry flocks need culling all the year around. Sell the loafers. They do not pay."

To get his start in poultry raising Mr. Amborn purchased single comb White Leghorn eggs from a reliable breeder in 1921. The foundation stock came from a purebred flock which was in the Wisconsin egg laying contest in 1920 and was of the University of Wisconsin strain.

Balanced Ration

"I keep dry mash in self feeders all the time," he says. "I mix my own dry mash as it is cheaper than the ready mixed and I always try to purchase the different feeds that go into it at a time when the market is low. I find that in order to produce eggs economically it is necessary to feed a balanced ration, consisting of dry mash, scratch feed and buttermilk.

"Chicks should be hatched early, especially the heavy breeds, in order to get in on the high egg market and early broilers. I hatch them with incubators and use colony brooders.

"At this time of the year many people have trouble with their hens eating their eggs. A good cure for egg eating is to scatter a few china eggs on the floor, and hang sacks in front of the nests to darken them.

"It is easier to get extra prices for eggs when they are graded according to quality, uniformity in color, uniformity in shape and uniformity in size."

Report

A study of the following certified report filed by Mr. Amborn will show that he made money on his hens during the last year.

Report of Elmer Amborn, of Bangor, La Crosse County, Wisconsin.

In contest of the Successful Farmer, from March 15th, 1922, to March 14th, 1923, inclusive, audited by Adolph Toepel, and Mr. Spreiter, the county agent for La Crosse county, this 17th day of March, 1923, and found to be correct.

To Campbell Town

By MRS. H. D. GRISWOLD

O good old town of Campbell,
How fair I see you lie,
The river flowing by your side
In silent majesty.

I see thy bluffs and hills rock-ribbed,
Thrown back by nature's hand,
To guard your homes and firesides,
Like battlements they stand.

Your homes are rich in comfort,
With milk and honey blest,
Wide open still, your doors are swung,
To give the traveler rest.

In Spring time all thy valleys
Are clothed with verdure bright,
And autumn flings her banner
In varied colors bright.

Each summer brings its harvest—
The grain like billowing seas,
And 'mid the fields of clover
Where flit the droning bees.

Thy name is known, fair Campbell,
Thy name is known today,
'Tis sweet with grateful memories
To thy children far away.

And Campbell Hall, old Campbell Hall,
What does thy name recalls;
For forty years the people
Have met within thy walls.

The rains may fall, the snows may drift,
And winds blow west or east
Four times a year the pilgrims
Come here to keep the feast.

You have no mystic word or sign,
You know no social ban,
No creed nor cult, but only this—
The "Brotherhood of Man."

Republican or Democrat
Progressive, he or not,
And even the Prohibitionist
Jumps into the melting pot.

Each matron with the other vies,
And each one acts her part,
To make the feast a thing of joy
And culinary art;

While music lends her potent charm,
While wit and wisdom roll,
And friendship's benediction falls,
And straightway crowns the whole.

And some are here with us today
Who forty years ago,
With most grace could lightly trip
The light fantastic toe.

Their ease of motion, comely grace,
Their children may inherit,
And all the praise and homage
Their virtues surely merit.

So here's to Good Old Campbell town,
And here's to Campbell Hall,
The past so full of memories
Most pleasant to recall.

And may the future's forty years
Be full of mirth and cheer,
The years within their cycles roll,
And may we all be here.

Editor's Note—The foregoing poem, written by Mrs. H. D. Griswold of West Salem, was read by her at the meeting of the La Crosse County Agricultural, Horticultural and Dairy association held in Campbell hall on March 14, 1923.

BROWN COUNTY CATTLE DOUBLE 1922 SALE PRICE

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Twenty-nine animals, entered in the junior sale of the Brown County Holstein Breeders' association, sold at prices ranging from $55 to $150. The bulls sold brought twice as much as those sold at this time in 1922. The county senior sale will be held on May 7.

"RUNT" HOG SOLD FOR $135

PIERRE, S. D.—At a sale of livestock on the Dorothy ranch south of Pierre, after all the high-class stock had been sold at good prices, a "runt" pig was put up, the price realized to go to "Billy" Collins, a young man with a family who had been ill for several months. The bidding was brisk and the pig was sold several times, each winner turning the runt back for re-sale. The money realized totaled $135, and the pig was then given to Collins, with the money.

SIGNS OF PROGRESS NOTED IN VILLAGES OF MONROE COUNTY

Norwalk and Wyeville Added Recently to List of County's Incorporated Communities

TOMAH, Wis.—The band of progress is on Monroe county and is proven by the addition of the two villages, Norwalk and Wyeville, to the list of incorporated communities. Norwalk has already incorporated, and Wyeville is on the way. Another creamery for the county is to be located at Wyeville. The buttermaker at the Cutler creamery is pushing the proposition, and will own the greater part of the stock, besides operating the creamery. Remaining shares of stock are to be purchased by farmers of the community. The stock sells at $25 per share, guaranteeing interest at six per cent. The total cost of the new creamery and equipment will aggregate from $8,000 to $10,000. The plan of the new creamery owners is three-fold, to make butter, ship sweet cream and manufacture ice cream.

A county-wide survey, preparatory to the dairy products campaign held from April 30 to May 5, shows that in Monroe county reports from 2,502 children reinforce the dire need of the campaign. Of the number reporting, one-half or 1,126 are daily addicted to the drinking of coffee. The children who drink milk daily fall short of the required amount by three cups, the majority drinking but two cups daily, or one-half of what they should consume. An extensive campaign in the county as planned cannot fail of excellent results. County Agricultural Agent Liddle is co-operating with Wisconsin university in putting on the campaign. Local women and men in the various communities are assisting helpfully in staging what will be the most pretentious event of the sort ever put on here.

COMMITTEES NAMED FOR MONROE COUNTY MILK-HEALTH DRIVE

TOMAH.—Miss Louis Spangenburg, local chairman of the dairy products' booster campaign has named the following persons to act with her in putting over the most important effort along health lines, ever planned for eastern Monroe county. The executive committee included the following prominent citizens: Mayor Ben Nuzum, Dr. T. J. Sheehy, Mrs. E. L. Gould former county nurse. School activities will be directed by E. J. McKean supervising principal of the Tomah public schools. Mrs. McKean will supervise open air play. Window displays are to be arranged by W. E. Rosshard William J. Brennan, Mrs. W. E. Bartels. Films for the movies, Mrs. M. R. Strouse, Mr. Mark Johnson, Press, Miss Ruth Stellings. A county-wide poster contest is now on. All posters are to be sent to Mr. Liddle of Sparta County Agricultural Agent. Each day of the booster campaign is to feature one special subject. The dates are April 30 to May 5. Only the perfect co-operation of Monroe county citizens can accomplish the desired results of the campaign, and that joining of forces appears to be on the way.

MARCH REPORT OF WEST SALEM C. T. A.

Four Hundred and ninety cows were tested during March. One hundred and eight cows produced over 40 pounds butterfat, 53 over 50 pounds, three cows made over 60 pounds and one over 70.

J. D. McDonald had high cow with 2,047 pounds milk and 73.7 pounds fat. He also had high herd average with 45.9 pounds fat per cow. Fourteen herds averaged over 30 pounds fat per cow.

CAMPBELL ALFALFA GROWERS SOCIETY ORGANIZED APRIL 5

On April 5th, fifteen farmers living in the vicinity of Campbell Hall, La Crosse Co., met and formed the nucleus of an organization, calling themselves the Campbell Alfalfa Growers Association. The meeting elected Fred Pralle manager and P. A. Larson secretary of the Association.

The object of the association is to encourage the growing of alfalfa. To do so ground limestone is necessary to sweeten the soil say the growers, and to devise a means of spreading the stone easily was the main object of the meeting.

Lyden brothers were on hand and sold the association two time spreaders to be used by the members in spreading the limestone.

A considerable amount of limestone has been used in the vicinity of Campbell Hall and some nice fields of Alfalfa have been started. A number of carloads of limestone will be shipped to these farmers this coming season to be used in the starting of more alfalfa.

FARMERS' MEETING IN WEST SALEM ON TUESDAY, APRIL 17

Advertising Expert Will Speak on "Merchandising Wisconsin Dairy Products"

You can't afford to miss hearing John M. Kelley who will speak in the Sales Pavilion at West Salem April 17th at 1:00 p. m.

Mr. Kelley will speak on Merchandizing Wisconsin Dairy Products.

John M. Kelley is one of the best experts in America on advertising. In fact he is and has been for years the advertising manager for the Ringling Brothers Circus Company. He is the man that is responsible for the bright and flashing pictures of the wild animals nice horses and pretty girls that you see posted on the bill boards that make you so anxious to see the circus.

Mr. Kelley is not only an expert advertiser, but is a successful breeder of purebred Holstein cattle and vice-president of the National Holstein Breeders' Association, besides that he is a lawyer by profession and one of the best speakers in the country.

Every farmer and his wife should hear what Mr. Kelley has to say about agricultural conditions and the remedy. If you like to laugh, you'll have the chance, and if you wish to give some good serious thought to your business, especially the marketing side of farming, Mr. Kelley will give you something to think about.

A number of creamery managers and farmers and business men from La Crosse county heard him in Madison a short time ago and all are agreed that Kelley has the right idea.

Tie the old team in the barn, crank up your Lizzie and be at the pavilion at 1:00 p. m. April 17th. The pavilion should be packed to the doors with interested farmers and their wives.

GUERNSEYS SELL WELL

ANTIGO, Wis.—Knight Brothers, George Moss and William Pheister, Kempster farmers, sold a carload of grade Guernsey cattle to George Gifford of Lake Geneva. The price averaged over $100 per head.

STRAWBERRY CROP TO BE BIG THIS YEAR IS REPORT

Indications are that 1923 Acreage Will be Greatest in History

CHICAGO, Ill.—Indications that the nation's strawberry shortcake this year would be the largest on record were reported Thursday by the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Statistics on early shipments and acreage in the berry producing fields showed that this year's crop in all probability would exceed last year's record output of 18,740 carloads, not including numerous express shipments and vast quantities consumed locally or manufactured into preserves and jellies.

The six leading states in 1922 were Tennessee with 3,600 cars, Arkansas with 2,200 cars, Missouri with 2,050 cars, Maryland with 1,636, and Louisiana with 1,540, and North Carolina with 1,100 cars.

Florida Forecast

Forecast of production in Florida this year is nearly 9,000,000 quarts, or 110 per cent more than last year. Car-lot shipments to April 7 were 1907 cars, almost three times as many cars as came from Florida all last season. Damaged somewhat by frost, the crop in Louisiana may not greatly exceed that of 1922, when nearly 21,000,000 quarts were picked. Shipments to date are 30 cars less than those of the early part of last season, filling only 206 cars.

Eleven cars came from Alabama during the first week of April as compared with 62 for the corresponding period of last season. This season's production was estimated at 5,000,000 quarts.

In the 11 intermediate states the forecast for strawberry acreage shows a slight increase for all except Arkansas, where there may be a ten per cent decrease.

Prices to Decrease

Prices have fluctuated this season with the supply. Florida Klondikes at the end of this week were bobbing around 40 to 15 cents a quart. The low point was reached during the middle of February and the high point of 75 cents the last of March. As supplies increase the price is expected to decrease.

Potato shipments from Florida have been retarded greatly by frost damage, the movement this season totalling on 50 cars compared with 581, to April 9, 1922. Shipments of old potatoes increased 400 cars, bringing this week's total movement of old and new stock to 6,000 cars. Prices declined at shipping point but were stronger in eastern cities.

Moderate weather accounted for increased shipments of vegetables, a gain of nine per cent being shown over the preceding week. No unexpected price changes occurred.

HUPMOBILES STUCK FOR TWO GAMES BY TRIBUNE BOWLERS

The Hupmobiles, league leaders, were stuck for 2 games by the Tribune, runners-up in the Commercial league, Wednesday night, leaving a gap of six games between the two teams.

The Matthews company team earned undisputed right to third place by defeating the W. M. L. & P. company in three games, while Stavrum and Fraser, with whom they were tied for third position, won only two from the Eagles. Scherrer featured the evening on the alleys, turning in consistent scores of 214, 214 and 217 in aiding the Matthews to win three.

The Gateway Grocery took the Tag Harts down the pike for three games.

NORMAL ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION FOR WOMEN IS GROWING

Senior "Phy Eds" Win First Volley Ball Tournament at the School

THE Woman's Athletic association of the Normal school staged its first volley ball tournament Wednesday evening at 4:10 under the direction of Miss Wilder, who is sponsor of the association. Seventy-two girls took part in the tournament and were representing every class and department in the school.

Many of the games were closely fought and much enthusiasm prevailed throughout the tourney. The teams representing the physical education department were doped to win every game but several normal teams spilled the dope and handed the "Phy Ed" teams a trouncing. The Senior "Phy Ed" team was the only team to come through without tasting defeat, and won the championship of the school.

The girls on this team all have a knowledge of the finer points of volley ball and have acquired the knack of playing the spiking game. Following is the list of the girls on the championship team: Marion Lettchberger, Constance Blegean, Ruth Castner, Lillian Gibson, Lorraine Williams, Barbara Rummel, Laura Thibodeau, Bernice Petersen, Marie Turick, Helen Roche and Sue Mayer. Miss Wilder was assisted by the three year "Phy Ed" freshmen girls in conducting the tournament.

The Woman's Athletic association is a new organization this year and was founded by Miss Wilder. It has grown considerably this year and is one of the prominent booster organizations of the school. Its members all take part in every kind of athletics and an interest in every school activity.

The association will begin all spring sports this week, tennis, baseball and track and much competition can be expected between the different teams.

Total	618	686	715

Only one bowler in the history of the A. B. C. has ever rolled a perfect game in national competition.

Billy Knox of Philadelphia is the bowler. He turned the trick March 10, 1913, at Toledo.

On Tuesday, April 3, 1923, at Milwaukee, over 10 years later, Knox came within a pin of duplicating the feat.

While Knox's score was only 279, the refusal of one pin to fall cost a count of 21 in the final result.

Knox started his final game with seven straight strikes. On a rather light hit in the eighth frame all the pins fell with the exception of No. 8, which wobbled around and finally righted itself, while the crowd gasped with excitement.

Knox finished the game by striking out, so that had the No. 8 pin fell it would have given him a perfect game of 300 instead of 279.

The failure of the No. 8 pin to fall also cost Knox several other records aside from the perfect game feat.

It would have given him a total of 736 in the singles instead of 715. That would have put him in first place in that event.

Likewise the score of 736 would stand as the highest three games ever bowled in the A. B. C. That mark is now 735.

It would have given him a total of 2040 in all events instead of 2019.

It kept him from repeating his 300 perfect game miracle.

In making his remarkable record of 2019, Knox was handicapped by one of the few fouls made in the tourney.

In his team event he fouled in the second frame of the first game on a strike. On his second ball he got only nine; He followed this with two more strikes, so it is an easy matter to figure how costly the foul proved.

BENEFIT ENTERTAINMENT FOR NORMAL GYMNASIUM TEAM GOES OVER WITH GREAT SUCCESS

THE benefit entertainment given Wednesday evening to raise money to send the La Crosse normal gym team to Minneapolis was a pleasing and entirely successful affair.

The championship wrestling tournament was the biggest feature of the evening. Three champions were declared, Bob Hurd winning the lightweight championship by throwing Segel in three minutes. Hurd had little difficulty in the preliminary bout with Neibuhr throwing him in about one minute. In the middleweight class, Swartz won the belt by throwing Giada, "the Terrible Swede," in two minutes. The heavyweight bouts proved to be the most interesting of the evening. Heis and Dodson wrestled to see who would meet Martin in the championship bout of the evening. Heis threw Dodson after a hard fought battle in which both men showed a skillful knowledge of the game. In the final battle, Heis and Martin wrestled to a draw, both men being about even when it came to weight, speed, endurance and knowledge. The bout went 15 minutes and it was a fast and hard fought battle and the most interesting one of the evening.

The remainder of the program was also interesting and entertaining. The male quartet put on a unique little act which scored a hit with the audience. The boys were all garbed in negro clothes and sang southern songs with wonderful harmony. Clyde Russell put on a jig that brought forth an encore. The band also played a few selections that were pleasing.

The novelty boxing exhibition, where three men were blindfolded and had a boxing glove on one hand and a dumbbell in the other and by tapping the floor with the dumbbell sought to put each other to sleep, brought forth many laughs from the crowd.

Tulsa Shipman and Miss Skaar put on a clever Russian dance that was well executed. Miss Edith Small and Elsie Ward of the freshman class did a clever clown dance that was pretty and scored big with the audience. Mr. Nohr and the three-year high students put on a negro shuffle dance that was well done to which the audience demanded an encore.

As for the financial end, $106 was taken in at the door, while $150 was the goal that Mr. Reuter was striving for. Mr. Wittich made an appeal to the audience to help make up the deficit and the crowd responded generously. However, the entire amount was not raised. Miss Wilder, president of the Women's Athletic association promised that the association would do its part and donate the remaining amount needed.

The gym team performed in great style as a closing feature of the program and showed much improvement over the last exhibition.

The gym team will journey to Minneapolis next Saturday.

LINCOLN DOUGLAS WENDELL PHILLIPS DEBATE ARRANGED

Big Annual Event at High School to Take Place on Friday Evening

The Lincoln Douglas and Wendell Phillips Debating societies of the local high school, have after a series of challenges by the former, compromised on a question and time for a debate between the two societies It will take place at the High school auditorium Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The intersociety debate is an annual affair and is always accompanied by a great deal of rivalry between the two clubs. In recent years, the L. D. has kept the pennant in its possession but the W. P. crew are determined to stage a comeback this year. In order that they should not be debarred at a disadvantage the W. P. asked that no advanced speakers in the L. D. society be allowed to take part in the debate. The reason for this is that the L. D. had six regulars on the debate team which represented the High school in the interscholastic event some time ago. As it is, the two teams which meet Friday night are very evenly balanced, and a hot, snappy debate is assured.

The question to be debated is: "Resolved, That the United States should enter the world court." This is a topic that is particularly interesting today as it is being discussed universally and by great political authorities. The W. P. will attempt to prove the question and the L. D. will uphold the negative. The W. P. D. S. is represented by Herbert Ristow, Frank Schneider, William Witt, and Carl Zoerb. The L. D. team is composed of Kenneth O'Connor, Leon and Engelke Dudley Emmert, and August Grams.

Not only high school students are urged to attend this debate, but also those outsiders who are interested in debating and public speaking. An admission fee of ten cents will be charged for which the societies guarantee a real debate.

LOSS OF TWO MILLIONS DOESN'T WORRY HIM

STRATFORD, Ontario.—Joseph Creighton who recently received a telegram stating that he was heir to a $2,000,000 estate left by an uncle in Indianapolis announced he had confirmed his suspicion that a mistake had been made and that the estate went to a cousin of the same name.

"I have allowed nothing to disturb the even tenor of my ways," he said cheerfully.

Wood is extremely scarce in Holstmland, that which drifts in from the sea is eagerly seized.

(Toilet Tips)

A safe, certain method for ridding the skin of ugly, hairy growths is as follows: Mix a paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface about 2 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repeating, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

MOVIES

"GLIMPSES OF THE MOON"

Allan Dwan's production, "The Glimpses of the Moon," was heartily received at its opening showing at the Rivoli Theater last evening. The picture, with Bebe Daniels and Nita Naldi in the featured roles, deals with the wild life of the idle rich—the side that is carefully concealed. The question arises from this production as to whether a wife in order to repay an acquaintance for financial aid is justified in keeping secret a certain damaging incident from her husband. Whether she is justified or not, Miss Daniels assists in a deception, and the result is the near destruction of her happy home.

The excellent cast includes David Powell and Maurice Costello. Edith Wharton is the author of the novel of which the photoplay is a pictorization.

RIVIERA TODAY

Wallace Mcdonald, matinee idol and popular leading man plays opposite Shirley Mason, the dainty Fox star, in her latest production "Youth Must Have Love," at the Riviera Theater today. This picture is proving a distinct surprise to followers of Miss Mason for instead of the usual, ready-made type of photoplay one generally associates with the youthful star she is seen in a stirring, pulsating drama of thrills and adventure.

CASINO TODAY

As its attraction for 3 days beginning today the Casino theater has announced the special production, "Pawned," made under the personal supervision of J. Parker Read, Jr. Advance reports on the photoplay warrant the statement that motion picture patrons who are fond of mystery, thrills and action will overlook a bet if they fail to see this offering.

"Pawned" is from a story by Frank L. Packard, among the best known of America's writers of current fiction and especially dear to motion picture devotees because of the success of his "The Miracle Man" as a photoplay.

Tom Moore and Edith Roberts are featured in the interpreting cast.

"DADDY"

There is nothing 'small' about Jackie Coogan—excepting in stature. Now he has corralled one of the world's finest violinists to play for him while he enacts scenes for his pictures. The musician is none other than Duci De Kerekjarto who has appeared before many kings and queens in his meteoric career.

Of course, Duci cannot remain with Jackie long, because he has contracts himself, calling for footlight engagements. However, whenever this talented artist finds time, he drives to Jackie's studio, taking his violin along. As Jackie and the other players start emoting on the set the violinist softly pulls his bow over the strings.

Incidentally Jackie is a violinist himself in his latest production, "Daddy," which is coming to the Majestic Theater soon. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coogan wrote the story, and before they felt that he was competent to appear on the screen in the role, he was compelled to take many lessons in handling the instrument and bow.

The diving bell was first successfully used in 1715.

No Corn Too Tough for "Gets-It"

It's just wonderful how "Gets-It" ends corns and calluses. Put a few drops of "Gets-It" on a hurting corn and Presto! The pain stops at once. Studebaker

We believe a Studebaker Sedan is good for five to ten years of useful, satisfactory life. We are not positive as to the real life because none has yet worn out.

If, when you trade in your car, you learn that you can get only three or four hundred dollars for it because there is no second-hand market for that make of car, then you must add this extra depreciation to arrive at the real cost of the car.

The trade-in price of Studebaker cars shows a very small depreciation, in many sections the smallest of all makes of motor cars. And there is always a ready market for used cars of Studebaker manufacture.

HOSPITAL BILL IS SLATED FOR DEATH IN THE ASSEMBLY

Measure Introduced at Request of La Crosse Physician is Vigorously Opposed

Hospital organizations of the state will continue to have the privilege of maintaining their own staffs, with power to exclude certain physicians if the assembly follows the recommendations of the committee on public Welfare and kills the Nein bill.

This measure was introduced at the suggestion of a physician of La Crosse and provides that hospitals enjoying privileges exempting them from taxation shall be open to all licensed physicians. When the measur came up for hearing at Madison a score of hospital organizations were represented in opposition to the measure. They claimed that the hospital staff should have the power to pass on the eligibility of physicians to operate in the hospitals. It is expected that the bill will be on Friday's calendar for action. Petitions have been filed in the legislature against the measure on the ground that it would disrupt hospital organizations in the state.

While Assemblyman Nein introduced the bill by request he did not appear before the committee to make an argument for the bill.

WEDNESDAY SEES ELEVENTH SHOWING OF "THE STORM"

Beach-Jones Co. Puts on Remarkable Play to Crowded House at Majestic

It is almost impossible to believe, but the eleventh performance of "The Storm" at the Majestic theater on Wednesday night, saw the show house packed to capacity with an audience more than ever eager to see the play that has taken such a grip on the whole city. As in its former presentations, it went over the top with the audience and added another laurel to its many outstanding successes. The production is exactly the same as it was when put on here in January and has the same cast of characters.

For lavishness and reality of settings and scenery, quality of acting and clever mixture of comedy and tragedy, the production has not been equalled nor even approached by anything that has ever visited La Crosse before. The record of its successes will no doubt stand for many years to come. Eloda Sitzer, as Manette Farchard, keeps the audience alternately laughing and crying with her in the many funny or tense situations throughout the play. The other two principal roles, those of Burr Winton and David Stewart, are perfectly interpreted by Arthur Hayes and Guy Beach.

The Beach-Jones company moves to the La Crosse Theater on Sunday, matinee and night presenting the play that the public chooses this week. This will be their farewell engagement in La Crosse this season.

CAMBRIDGE MAYOR MAKES WAR ON MOONSHINERS

MADISON, Wis.—Mayor K. K. Amundson, newly elected mayor of Cambridge, Wis., has announced an open crusade against moonshiners following the death late Wednesday of Nordahl Lee, 30, who died from a fractured skull after falling from a second story porch.

The mayor said that this accident happened at the termination of what he described as a "boisterous party."

Investigation into the death of the young man was begun by local officials.

BADGERS AGAIN BEATEN

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—By The Associated Press.—The University of Alabama defeated Wisconsin 1 to 0 in a pitchers' battle here Wednesday afternoon between Steed and Johnson. Three errors contributed to the visitors' loss.

OSHKOSH PROTESTS FIGURES ON CENSUS ANNOUNCED BY U. S.

Claim City Has Gained 4,500 Instead of 35 Increase Reported by Washington

OSHKOSH, Wis.—Oscar J. Hardy, publisher of the Oshkosh Daily Northwestern, takes exception to the census figures issued by the authorities at Washington relative to the population of Oshkosh, in a letter written to Congressman Florian Lampert.

The population of Oshkosh was formerly given as 33,000 and is given in the 1920 census report as 33,162, while the figures given this year are 33,197, which denotes a gain of 35.

Mr. Hardy in his letter to Mr. Lampert, speaking of the dispatch in which the latest census returns were made known, said in part:

"According to that dispatch Oshkosh has gained only 35 persons in three years.

"This, your own knowledge of conditions will inform you, is absolutely untrue.

"As publisher of the Northwestern I make this statement:

"Oshkosh will show up close to 37,500. Our books show that our circulation in the city during the last thirteen years has increased over 1,500 copies per day.

"Figuring at least three people to every home gives us an additional population of 4,500 on that basis alone."

Mr. Hardy then inquires about the costs to have another canvass made and offers to raise the necessary money at home if the government refuses to make the new survey.

POLITICAL GOSSIP MAY STOP HARDING TRIP

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Harding will abandon his plans for a trip across the country and to Alaska this summer if the country persists in regarding the trip as a campaign for his re-election in 1924, it was declared at the White house.

The president, it was said regrets the political interpretation placed on his proposed trans-continental trip.

He is said to feel that now is not a fitting time for him to appear to be campaigning in the interests of re-election.

FRIDAY THE 13th

DOERFLINGER'S

FRIDAY THE 13th

Friday the 13th, Lucky Day

Somebody, origin and name unknown, somewhere, somehow, originated the idea that Friday and the 13th and in this case Friday, the 13th, were unlucky. The notion is purely a mental one, as for some people Friday and the 13th are very lucky. We are going to prove that the latter is true and if you'll take advantage of these lucky Friday bargains you can prove to yourself that Friday and the 13th are lucky.

This is a kind of a Birthday Party, too, as it happens to be the birthday of Mr. Wm. Doerflinger, the founder of this business. We're not going to tell you how old he is, 'cause he doesn't look it and doesn't feel it and we rather thought that there should be no more enjoyable birthday party for him than to see his store crowded with happy, lucky customers. So break the jinx and get down here for these lucky Friday bargains.

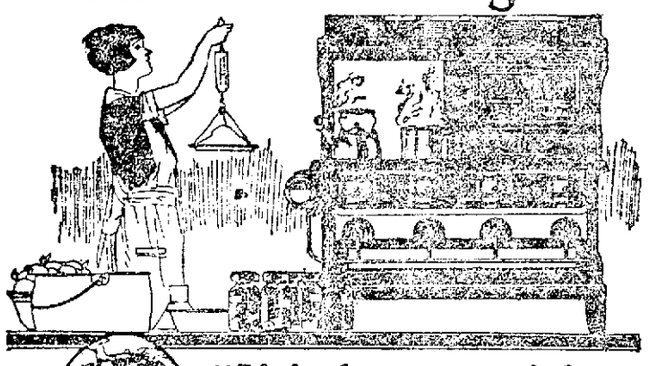
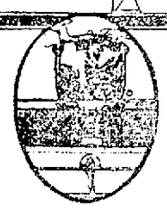
FLORENCE

Oil Stoves & Ranges





"If it has no wicks, how do you light it?"

When women are told that the Florence is wickless they ask—"How do you light it then?"

The answer is—just touch a lighted match to the asbestos starting ring. The result is a hot blue flame. This flame can be raised or lowered to suit your needs by simply turning a regulator.

The Florence burns kerosene—a clean fuel and a cheap one.

A Florence Oil Stove stands ready for use in this store. Come in. Turn the burners up and down. See how simple the stove is to light and how easy to clean.

WHY YOU SHOULD NAME A TRUST COMPANY IN YOUR WILL

It Is Business-Like

SETTLING an estate is principally a matter of business.

Appraising property, negotiating settlements, managing real estate, auditing and passing upon claims, collecting assets, keeping proper records, watching investments, preparing tax returns—these are some of the business matters which an executor is called upon to handle.

This Company takes these problems in hand systematically, without lost motion, and with efficiency supported by experience.

Would you leave such problems as these to your wife or others who may have little equipment for the task, when it costs no more to have us act for you?

Ask us for a copy of "Safeguarding Your Family's Future," a comprehensive booklet on wills, trusts, and trust company service.
